FOR SAFE AND SANE FOURTH VACATION IN THE MILLS

Many Features That Can be Enjoyed Without Danger of Accident—Official Program

All is now in readiness for the celebration of Independence day in Lowell, and if the program is carried out as planned Lowell will see one of the sanest Fourth's ever observed in this city. If the youngsters as well as the adults pay attention to the good advice of the officials of the city, the firecrackers and fireworks will be scarce in the Spaulding City tomorrow and the day after there will be fewer patients in the hospitals, for it is a known fact that there are always more or less accidents on this day coming from the negligent use of firearms or fireworks.

There will be no parade in Lowell tomorrow, but nevertheless who ever wants to spend a good, enjoyable day may do so, for there will be plenty of opportunities for amusement. The city officials have provided for band concerts in various sections of the city, while there will be sporting events of all descriptions.

One may start in the forenoon by attending the battle between Lowell and Worcester at Spaulding park, this interesting game of baseball to be held at 10 o'clock, while in the afternoon boxing and wrestling bouts and a good program of sports will be carried out at the same place. BOY DROWNED IN
SUFFOLK CANAL

Joseph Daigle Lost His Life While
Swimming This Morning—
Body Not Recovered

Joseph Daigle, aged 13 years, and residing at 222 Moody street, lost his life while bathing in the Suffolk canal between Moody and Merrimack streets this morning. Despite the efforts of his companion, Armand Vohl of 305 Suffolk street, the young man went to his death and his body has not yet been recovered.

For several weeks past boys and young men were daily seen enjoying a dip in the waters of the Suffolk canal. Some would dive from the bridge railing, while others would even go as far as climbing a large tree and dive from its limbs.

This morning, however, Daigle and Armand Vohl, the former at 10:15 o'clock, after eating breakfast, asked Vohl to go for a swim and they did with the result that Daigle was drowned.

Vohl, when seen by the writer shortly after the accident, made the following statement: "Daigle who was employed at the Lowell hosier was out of work for the day. After partaking of his breakfast, he asked me to go for a dip and I accepted the invitation. We went on the banks of the Suffolk canal at the Moody street bridge. I was the first to dive and Daigle soon followed. After remaining in the water a few minutes, I came out again and noticed my companion who was swimming toward the Merrimack street bridge. As he was an exceptionally good swimmer I did not pay much attention to him."

There was one man standing on the Merrimack street bridge watching the pair of us, and suddenly he shouted to me that my companion was drowned.

It was then I saw Daigle sink under the bridge. I dove into the water and swam to his assistance, but when I reached the spot where I last saw him, he was out of sight. I dove to the bottom of the canal in search for him, but I failed to locate his body.

"After clothing myself I took my companion's clothes and brought them to my home, 536 Suffolk street, and immediately notified Undertaker Joseph Albert. We then went to the Boat mill and notified the mother of the young man, Mrs. Desire Daigle, who resides in Tyngsboro.

Exceptionally good swimmers spent the noon hour diving for the body, but with no result. This afternoon Undertaker Albert had some of his men scuttle the bottom of the canal.

Daigle is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Honore Daigle; three sisters, Olive, Daigle of Lancaster, Lucie and Della, and a brother, Frank, the last three of Boston.

PALMER DEFENDS INCOME TAX

Chairman of House Democratic Caucus Addresses Maryland Bar Association

CAPE MAY, N. J., July 2.—Declaring that in future an income tax of some kind will always form a part of the fiscal system of the United States, Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, chairman of the House Democratic caucus, last night defended the income provision of the tax bill before the Maryland Bar Association in convention here.

Mr. Palmer first took up that feature of the bill which, he said, was the one that had met with the greatest objections from business men and corporation managers as entailing upon them the burden of tax collection. He answered the declaration in substance that the large benefits to the government for outlay in the hands of those responsible for this legislation, the annoyance to business men.

"Where the income of a person is this, said at the source," said Mr. Palmer, "the benefit of the tax exemption will be allowed only where the income is derived from a source which is exempted, and not from a source which is not exempted, within the time specified by the law, upon the person required to make such payment at the source."

It is the belief of the framers of the bill that this provision, while, of course, requiring a large number of persons to act as tax collectors for the government, will not result in any unfairness, injustice or hardship.

Corporations and other business men continued, usually conduct their business with such system that their returns, after they have become familiar with the requirements of the law, will be made without serious interference with the usual course of business. Under the system adopted, Mr. Palmer said, it was inconceivable to suppose that much of the tax, justly due, would escape the collectors.

Easy for Corporations
"A couple of years' experience," continued Mr. Palmer, "in the operation of the law will reduce the mountain which business men see on the horizon, to a mere mole hill. It will be just as easy for a corporation, in paying the interest upon its indebtedness, to pay to the party entitled thereto 99 cents on the dollar and retain for the government the remaining one cent, as it will be for an individual taxpayer to pay 100 cents to the holder of his obligation."

"When a coupon on a bond payable to bearer is presented to the corporation direct from the owner, the withholding of the tax will be easy; where the coupon is deposited with a bank for collection, it will be equally free from difficulty. It is only where the coupon is sold to another or used in trade before presentation to the obligor, that the operation of the law becomes troublesome. Even then, it is not difficult, for the holder of the coupon, if a taxable person whose income is sufficiently large from other sources, to permit him to secure his local exemption and deductions elsewhere, and show them in his personal return, will use his coupon just as he does now, except that when it leaves his hand he will receive for it 99 per cent of its face value."

"If, however, the taxable person desires to secure his exemption out of the interest represented by the coupon, or if his income from all sources shall not reach $1,000, he will attach to his coupon a notice and affidavit whereupon his coupon will pass at its face value."

Exemption a Feature
Mr. Palmer discussed the exemption feature of the law, which, he said, had been considered in toto by many critics of the measure, "on the principle that every person having an income should pay his due share of taxes for the support of the government and that the realizing sense of his responsibility toward the government would be greater than the amount of the tax. The government would derive no benefit from such a tax and the burden upon the citizen to enforce rigid economy in the expenditure of public moneys."

"In the first place," continued Mr. Palmer, "there is a point in the size of an income, below which the expenditure of collection would be greater than the amount of the tax. The government would derive no benefit from such a tax and the burden upon the citizen to enforce rigid economy in the expenditure of public moneys."

"The present system of taxation is unequal, favoring the wealthy and well-to-do. If the proposed system shall be unequal, favoring the poor, the ultimate result of our entire system of taxation will come nearer to a general equalization than we have yet reached. It seems to me also that it is the part of wisdom to leave forward and untaxed that portion of every American citizen which is necessary or may be required to rear and support his family according to the American standard, and to educate his children in the best manner which the educational system of the country affords."

Country Relieves in System
"The country has shown that it believes in this new system of taxation and desires its permanency as a part of the fiscal system. It is entirely unnecessary, therefore, that in writing the details of the law we should avoid anything which might endanger the purpose and intent of the American people in authorizing this kind of legislation."

One of the chief criticisms of the revenue measure, Mr. Palmer declared, was entirely due to a misapprehension of the provisions regarding the exemption of mutual life insurance companies.

"The life insurance companies, and not the life insurance, are the subject of the exemption," continued Mr. Palmer, "and for that reason the policyholders should be entirely exempt from taxation or that all income returned to policyholders, in whatever form, should be considered as income of the company and, therefore, taxable, but as the property of the individuals in the company under the mutual plan, held for them by the company and returned to them from time to time."

"It is argued that the tax upon the mutual companies, necessarily paid by the policyholders results in taxing the individual whose total income from all sources is within the $1,000 exemption. This is true, but it is an inconsistency in the law more apparent than real. The same thing is true of all stockholders in all corporations."

"The corporation pays a tax upon its earnings without exemption and such of its stockholders as would not be taxable because their incomes are less than $1,000 are thus taxed to the extent of their incomes which they receive from the corporation. It simply amounts to this—that if an individual desires to have for himself the benefits which accrue from doing business in corporate form, he pays to the government this very small tax as a return for that benefit."

Should Read Bill Carefully
"It is alleged that Section B declares there shall be allowed as a deduction, amongst other things, the amount of income received or payable from any source at which the tax upon such income, which is or will become due, under the provisions of this section, has been withheld for payment at the source in the manner hereinafter provided; and that consequently the taxable person whose his income from such source exceeds $20,000, will escape payment of the additional or surtax upon such excess."

"A careful reading of the bill will show that this is a deduction to be allowed in computing the net income, not in returning it for computation and assessment. It is expressly provided that every person subject to the additional or surtax shall for the purpose of its assessment and collection make personal return of his total net income from all sources."

In conclusion Mr. Palmer states that no claim of infallibility is made for the framers of the measure and that they are aware that it will be criticized by the ablest minds of the country and attacked in the courts and a meaning imputed to words and phrases that was never dreamed of by the men who penned them.

BABY RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Child Was Running to Meet Father

BEVERLY, July 3.—Elizabeth, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Holden of Conant street, North Beverly, is at the Beverly hospital with a fractured skull and is on the dangerous list as a result of an automobile accident at North Beverly last night.

Waiting For Father
Mrs. Alice R. Pierce of Proctor's Crossing, driver of a powerful motor car, was at the wheel of the car which hit the little Holden girl. Standing on the sidewalk near her home, the child cried her father getting off the car and started to meet him.

In an instant the big machine driven by Mrs. Pierce was upon her, and before the horrified spectators the child was knocked down on the hard macadam with such force that her skull was fractured, and there were other injuries, which, it is feared, may cause her death.

There has been much complaint at North Beverly over the speeding of motor cars on the state highway, but the accident in which Mrs. Pierce figures is the first serious one this summer.

Mrs. Pierce is well known in Salem and North shore circles, and for many years was much interested in driving horses, and still drives many, although she is a devotee of motoring and other out-of-door sports. Only recently she figured in another accident at Beverly Cove, in which the car she was driving was considerably damaged.

CHELMSFORD

No program has been arranged for a public celebration of the Fourth but a ball game will be played between "The Old Timers" and "The Climbers" in which great interest has been aroused. In order to insure the best fire protection tonight and tomorrow, Chief Ralph P. Adams of the fire department and Forest Warden Arnold C. Perham will have a sign stationed at the telephone in the town hall throughout the night and tomorrow up to midnight. The number of the phone is 2233-R.

To provide an adequate water supply for the Centre, wells have been driven in land at the foot of Warren avenue to the depth of 41 feet and 43 feet respectively and water rose to within 18 inches of the surface of the ground. Samples of the water will be tested by the state board of health, and if approved, ten wells will be drilled.

Killed in Auto Accident

NEW YORK, July 3.—Samuel Stevens Sands, stepson of William Vanderbilt, was killed in an automobile accident near Westhampton, L. I., last night.

"For several years, I was greatly distressed with a spot of eczema on my elbow, it causing me untold annoyances and trouble. I tried all of the standard remedies and at one time feared it would be a life-long annoyance. I finally sent for a sample of your SULPHOLAC and after one or two applications, found very marked improvement. I purchased a jar, used it conscientiously, and in a very short time the spot had entirely disappeared. It is two years since the last application and there has been no recurrence. You have my permission to publish this, as I feel I'm doing a favor to others who are similarly affected." F. W. Herndon, Parsloe, N. J.

MIKE LARKIN BACK

Noted Cold Water Swimmer is Here Once Again, Ready to Meet All Competitors

The well known swimmer, Michael Larkin, who used to cut holes in the ice in mid-winter to enjoy a swim, has returned to this city and, it is said, will take part in the swimming race tomorrow in connection with the regatta of the Lowell Motorboat club on the Merrimack. He expressed himself as anxious to meet any of the local swimming experts in a race for any distance. A short time ago Frank Murphy issued a challenge which sounded very similar to work of Larkin and it looks as though the two are destined to get together.

Some years ago Mike Larkin was not in the best of health and he was thought to be suffering from tuberculosis. He started in to swim and a great improvement in his health and general appearance resulted with remarkable quickness. When the cold weather came, Mike swam just the same, cutting holes in the ice in the river in order to get into the water. He visited many towns and cities, giving exhibitions and thus derived other benefits by putting his skill in the water into practical use.

Murphy says he will not enter the water tomorrow, with his pal, Ed McCormack, will participate, but says that the prizes offered are not of sufficient magnitude to induce him to compete.

STORY OF GREEK VALOR

As Told by an American Soldier Who Served Under the Greek Flag at the Siege of Bezanze

Through the courtesy of Rev. C. H. Demetry, formerly of the local Greek church, The Sun has received a copy of a book chronicling the heroic account of the siege of Bezanze by the Greek army in Ephesus, during the war in the Balkans. The book is written by T. S. Hutchinson, brigadier general of the National Guard of Tennessee, retired who served under the Greek flag during the siege of Bezanze. He tells a thrilling story of the exploits, the bravery and prowess of the Greek soldier as judged by his enemies in the army, the navy and in whatever duty he may be placed. The book is of great interest to Americans as well as to Greeks and will be widely read as it is up to the minute in its treatment of the subject in hand.

LOWELL LOOMS LARGE IN CENSUS

47th in Population and 39th in Production—Employs as Many Wage Earners as Vermont

The recent publication known as the abstract of the 13th census of the United States contains valuable statistics. The statistics of manufacturing is especially interesting and a perusal of the facts concerning states, cities and industries is interesting when a comparison is made between Lowell and other cities, and also when compared with some of the states.

Considered from a standpoint of population Lowell ranks 47th, and from the summary of cities relative to the value of products Lowell occupies a position 39th in the list. In New England her rank is seventh and in Massachusetts sixth. While much is heard these days concerning the opportunities of the south and southwest, the fact of the matter will be of interest and should tend to bring about a realization of the importance of Lowell and the opportunities existing here.

Lowell has 32,575 wage earners, which is about 1000 less wage earners than are employed in the state of Vermont, and more than are employed in North Dakota, South Dakota or Nebraska, and about as many as are employed in Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada.

Lowell pays annually in wages about $16,000,000, which is more than the states of Nebraska, Delaware, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, Utah or Nevada, and more money than is paid to wage earners in the combination of the following states: South Dakota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Idaho and Wyoming.

The capital devoted to manufacturing in Lowell amounts to $51,884,000, which is in excess of any of the following states: Delaware, North Dakota, South Dakota, District of Columbia, Oklahoma, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada. The value of the products of Lowell amount to $60,571,000, which is a greater value than the products manufactured in the states of Vermont, Florida, Mississippi, Arizona and Oklahoma, and greater than the combined states of North and South Dakota, District of Columbia, Idaho and Wyoming.

About 40 gamblers surprised—One Arrest Made—Furnishings Taken Away in a Motor Truck

PROVIDENCE, July 3.—One of the most prominent gambling houses in Marlville, located at the corner of Mineral Spring avenue and Charles street, was raided last yesterday afternoon by nine deputy sheriffs acting under orders of Gov. Pothier, the attorney general and Sheriff Andrew J. Wilcox. Two roulette layouts, a faro layout, about 100 poker chips, markers, blackjack board for pool selling and other gambling apparatus were seized, after the doors had been battered down, and about 40 men were caught in the establishment, although but one arrest was made.

James D. Finan, who is charged with being the lookout for the gambling place, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Kinnecon, who led the raiding party. The raid was made under the authority of a search warrant, such as is authorized to issue under the recently enacted gambling law.

The raid was a surprise. Three or four of the 40 men who were inside made their escape by jumping out of the window upon another roof and thus reaching the ground.

Hundreds of persons of the town were attracted to the scene and for about three hours a curious crowd stood around watching the gaming implements lowered from a window on the third floor and put into a motor truck.

So far as can be learned the gambling house does not run under any particular name. The house and land were declared to be owned by Happy Harris, so called about the town. He told the deputy sheriffs in charge of the raid that he did not know who stood around watching the gaming implements were found. The residence is said to be occupied by Thomas F. Moran.

The raid came as a climax to a surveillance of the house during the past few weeks following the "trimming" of a Brown University student for $500 six weeks ago at the house.

Finan was arraigned at a special session of the 6th district court last night and pleaded not guilty to a gambling charge. Judge Buckner fixed July 17 as the date of trial and Finan was released in $1000 bail, which was furnished by Joseph A. Murphy of Providence.

The warrant against Finan charged that he had "acted as lookout game-keeper and assistant for the game of faro, a banking game and roulette," and further charged him with being a "common gambler."

For several weeks Gov. Pothier has been receiving complaints from church people and others against gambling in Marlville and a week or more ago he consulted with Sheriff Andrew J. Wilcox of Providence county and Attorney General Herbert A. Rice. As a result it was decided to conduct a raid without allowing any advance information to get outside.

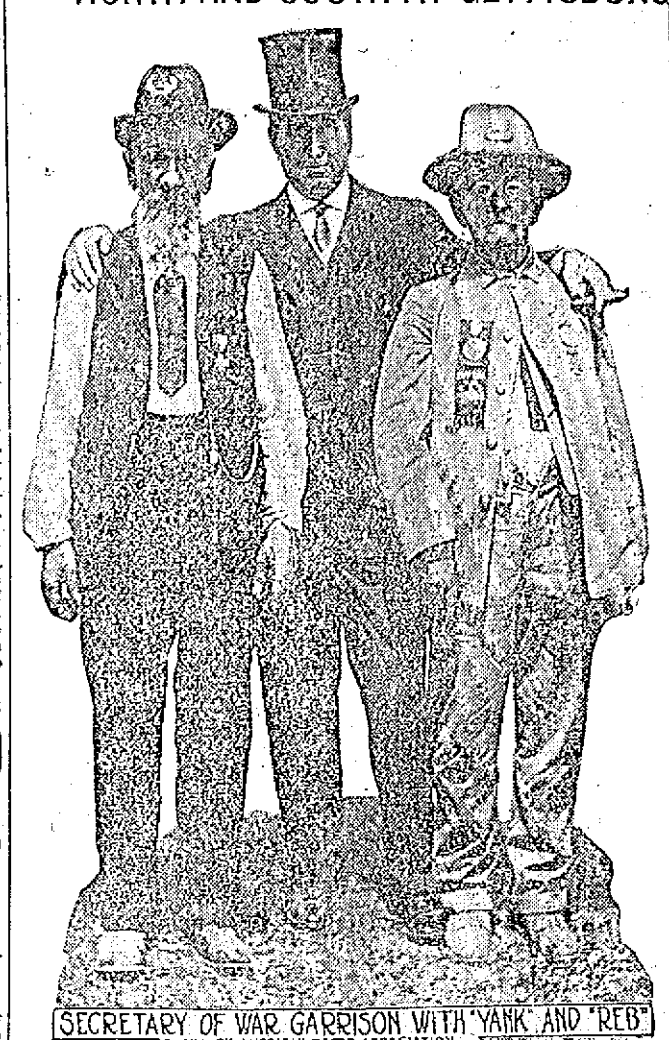

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary McAdoo has introduced the daily treasury statement in revolutionized form. It shows in detail the assets and liabilities of the federal government and by one change alone under a book-keeping arrangement the revision reduces the balance in the general fund by more than $22,000,000.

Instead of $122,000,000 as would have appeared under the old form the balance in the general fund is given as $100,000,000. The law requires that deposits made by national banks amounting to $22,000,000 for the retirement of circulating national bank notes must be covered into the treasury as miscellaneous receipts. As the general fund is liable for the payment of these notes whenever presented, the new statement regards them as a liability and deducts them from the balance in the general fund here to be regarded as the government's most readily available assets. The statement shows that the total cash in the treasury yesterday was $1,028,000,000.

Mr. Looney, Ryne's manager, asserts that he is willing to back his man to the limit and that if Mr. Murphy will name some night within the week he will meet him at this office and arrange for an aquatic meeting between the two. Here's hoping they pick out the sporting editor for stake holder!

Lowell Men Extinguish Blaze at Lynn

Four members of the Lowell baseball team made a great hit yesterday with the Lynn public when they temporarily took upon themselves the role of fire fighters and extinguished a blazing roof which had not been discovered until the ball players happened to pass the building on the way to the ball park.

Henderson, Dee, Miller and Clement were the four ball tossers who made the Lynn fire sick with envy as they scaled the walls and clambered on to the roof of the house situated at 47 North street, where the shingles were already blazing. The players were all in their uniforms and their spiked shoes proved just the thing to prevent them from sliding down the roof's incline. Shortly after the boy who handled the fire, for Shorty was made the end of the line, and passed the water buckets as they came up from below. The fire was soon extinguished, but it was very fortunate for the owners of the property that the ball players observed the blaze or it in all probability the building would have been burned to the ground before the fire department reached the spot.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary McAdoo has introduced the daily treasury statement in revolutionized form. It shows in detail the assets and liabilities of the federal government and by one change alone under a book-keeping arrangement the revision reduces the balance in the general fund by more than $22,000,000.

Instead of $122,000,000 as would have appeared under the old form the balance in the general fund is given as $100,000,000. The law requires that deposits made by national banks amounting to $22,000,000 for the retirement of circulating national bank notes must be covered into the treasury as miscellaneous receipts. As the general fund is liable for the payment of these notes whenever presented, the new statement regards them as a liability and deducts them from the balance in the general fund here to be regarded as the government's most readily available assets. The statement shows that the total cash in the treasury yesterday was $1,028,000,000.

101 RANCH WILD WEST SHOW

MISS BESSIE HERBERG

Great Aggregation in Imposing Street Parade—Big Attendance This Afternoon

Favored by perfect weather the famous Miller Brothers and Arlington's 101 Ranch Wild West show came to Lowell today to give two performances at the Fair Grounds in Gorham street. The advent of the circus was as usual proclaimed in a gorgeous manner by the splendid street parade which passed through Merrimack street about half past ten o'clock.

Take it from us, the parade is no small feature of the circus and a Wild West show without a parade is like breakfast without coffee. Without the morning procession, circus day would have nothing of the festive aspect which stamps it as a near holiday, and it is quite certain that the attendance at the performances would not be as large if the people were not convinced by the street parade of the mammoth proportions of the show.

Dawn found the circus well nigh transported to the fair grounds, so quickly and so systematically do the men work. Throughout the morning the inevitable souvenir men with the red and blue balloons, whistles, canes, banners, badges, etc., beckoned about the streets, leading their way to the notice of the children, leaving it to the little ones to make the necessary demand on parent or guardian. Great students of human nature are these roustabouts.

About half past ten o'clock the faint sound of a band was heard in the distance and from thousands of throats went up the cry, "Here it comes!" Everybody rushed to get a good place at the curb. Then there proceeded down Central street over Merrimack street a potent what was a genuine treat to old and young alike. There were sun-browned cowboys and cowgirls, copper-colored Indians, several cowboy hands and boats depicting incidents of the far west. Two interesting features were the old stage coaches, dilapidated and riding with a boat like motion on the leather straps arranged to take the place of springs. The Indians were headed by Chief Iron Tail, an Ojiblah Sioux of the age of 65 years. Chief Iron Tail is the identical Indian the reproduction of whose head appears on the new nickel recently issued in circulation by Uncle Sam. His profile is a remarkable one, possessing the real characteristic Indian features. He is very proud of having been selected for the honor of having the new nickels adorned with his picture.

The horses of the 101 Ranch are remarkable specimens and are very numerous. Their well kept condition is a source of real delight to the lovers of horse flesh who view the parade or attend the show. This show has always been noted for its horses, and the men take exceedingly good care of the animals.

A trained buffalo is an unusual feature of the Wild West show. It is generally conceded that the buffalo is about the hardest animal known to train. There are several of these buffaloes with the show and they are all fine specimens. Another interesting feature was the long horned steer, an animal seldom seen in the east.

Immediately after the parade many journeyed to the grounds to see the tents and the animals and to wait around for the opening of the main tent. A large number of special cars were called into use and were kept busy throughout the entire afternoon. There were, of course, very many visitors to the city from the surrounding towns, and the fact that tonight is the famous "Night Before the Fourth" furnishes an added attraction. It is a case of "We won't go home until morning" with the most of the folks and well-circled day and the Fourth of July are not numerous on the calendar and no one can afford to spend his time on such occasions.

Among the performers are ropers and rough riders from the great Chayenne frontier day and the famous round-up at Pendleton, credited with being the most expert in the world. The cowgirls with the show include some of the best performers in the world. Mrs. Clyde Lindsey is an expert, who gives a wonderful riding performance.

The attendance at the afternoon performance was largely attended and as the seats are in the open the show was greatly enjoyed. The arena in which the show is given is the coolest place in town.

Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Watford, Me.—
"I had dandruff on my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried—and a number of other things and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Luella Lord, May 10, 1913.

DRINK 143,300,000 GALS. OF BOOZE

Drinkers and Smokers of This Country Break Records—7,707,000,000 Cigars Puffed

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The American people drank more whiskey and beer, smoked more cigars and cigarettes, and chewed more tobacco during the fiscal year 1913 than in any other yearly period of the nation's history, according to estimates based yesterday upon the record-breaking internal revenue receipts of the federal government for the 12 months ended June 30.

The drinkers of the country consumed the enormous total of 143,300,000 gallons of whiskey and brandy, an increase of 7,800,000 gallons over the previous year and breaking the former high record of the fiscal year 1907 by 7,300,000 gallons. Sixty-four million five hundred thousand barrels of beer flowed down the throats of the nation's drinkers, exceeding by the amount of the beer consumed the record of 1912 by more than 1,000,000 barrels.

Smokers puffed into space 7,707,000,000 cigars and 14,012,000,000 cigarettes during the year just closed. This was

TWO RESCUERS DROWNED

Mother of One, Whom He Tried to Save, is Pulled to Shore—Son Lost His Life

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 3.—While Harry Mischner, 19 years old, was bathing with his mother and sisters in the Raritan river yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Mischner got beyond her depth. She could not swim. Neither could her son, but seeing that she was seized with a cramp and was sinking he plunged into the deep pool to save her. Before he could reach her he sank.

In a boat with his wife and sister was William Sweeney. He jumped into the river and tried to swim to young Mischner. But the rescuer was whirled by the current until he too disappeared. Both he and Mischner were drowned.

Meanwhile a trolley motorman reached Mrs. Mischner, pulled her to shore and helped to revive her.

LIBERTY SQUARE RIOTERS BABIES CRY FOR MOTHER

Had Their Bail Reduced to $1000

AS THE VICTIM STABBED WILL RECOVER

Husband in Court for Threatening to Kill His Wife—Other Offenders Sentenced

All of the Turks who were arrested in connection with the riot in Liberty square last week had their cases continued again until July 10. The four men, Alie Accary, Mohamed Genui, Alie Mohamed and Alie Mohamed, who are charged with assault and attempt to kill, had their bail reduced from $2000 to $1000 in view of the fact that their alleged victim is now on the road to recovery.

Peter Mormeno was charged with threatening to kill his wife and pleaded not guilty. His wife took the stand and testified that the defendant told her yesterday that he would kill her before the day was out. She gave his character a very hard going and said that he refused to provide for their children. He was placed under bonds to keep the peace.

Edmund Vandervelde and Prosper Decker were charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace and both pleaded not guilty. The testimony in the case brought out the fact very clearly that the former had made all the trouble. Judge Enright ordered Edmund to pay a fine of $15 and discharged his companion.

James H. Coffey, an old offender, was sent to the state farm for drunkenness. There were four first offenders whom Probation Officer Slattery released.

SAILORS ACT AS COPS

Do Police Duty at City of Gloucester

GLoucester, July 3.—Two U. S. battleships and five torpedo boat destroyers arrived yesterday with 2000 blue jackets. At Rockport are an equal number of Uncle Sam's ships and sailors.

Recognizing that Gloucester is crippled by want of an adequate police force, Chief of Police Charles S. Marchand asked Commodore Frank Evans, for a detail of ship police, and was given 15 men for local patrol duty. It is understood that a similar force of ship police is doing shore duty in and about Rockport.

The Utah and North Dakota are the battleships and the Tripp, Burrows, Ammen, Monaghan and Tattersall are the destroyers here. The Monaghan is the flagship of the fleet. The Rhode Island and Georgia are the battleships at Rockport.

MISS WILSON TO BE BRIDE

President's Daughter to Marry F. B. Sayre

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The president and Mrs. Wilson announced last night the engagement of their second daughter, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, to Francis Bowes Sayre of Lancaster, Penn. The wedding is expected to take place next November at the White House. Mr. Sayre is at present an attorney in the office of District Attorney Whitman of New York.

While close friends of both families have known of the engagement for some time, announcement was withheld until yesterday, the first anniversary of Mr. Wilson's nomination at the Baltimore convention.

FIRE DEPT. ON JUMP

Fires at Fair Grounds and Adams Street

A blaze which started in a dump on the fair grounds caused the fire department nearly two hours' work this morning. The fire was in progress about 100 feet from where the circus tent was being hoisted and burned from 7.30 till 9 o'clock, when the blaze was extinguished. The cause of the fire is not known.

Fires on Adams Street

A fire which probably started from a chimney spark broke out on an old barn on Adams street this morning but before the fire apparatus arrived some men who were in the vicinity had torn the burning shingles from the roof and thrown them to the ground. The building was owned by the Smith estate.

New Service Commission

BOSTON, July 3.—The new public service commission which is to supervise the public service corporations of the state is to organize this morning with the selection of the Hon. Frederick J. Macleod of Cambridge as chairman.

Mr. Macleod was chairman of the old rate public commission whose place is taken by the new commission. The new commission began its duties on July 1 with the three members of the railroad commission as its working members.

Yesterday, however, the governor's council confirmed George P. Lawrence and George W. Anderson as the two additional members of the commission.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

those who are not interested in athletics, these places ought to appeal.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon a swimming race will be held on the Merrimack river, above the falls, and this ought to prove a big attraction, for several notable swimmers are scheduled to take part in the contest. This will be followed by motor boat races and canoe races, which will also be very interesting.

Several amateur baseball games will be played on the North common and other grounds in the city. The annual picnic of Court St. Antelope, C. D. F. will be held all day at Dugle farm in Dracut.

The midway and the circus will be the chief attractions this evening, while at midnight several bonfires will be lighted in various parts of the city.

There are many who dispute the advice of wise men for a safe Fourth celebration, will indulge in the firing of fireworks and firearms, but it may be well for them to exercise due care in so doing, for the chief of police has given strict orders to all members of the department to see that no infraction of the law is committed. The use of revolvers or other firearms is prohibited and any infraction will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The Bonfires

At twelve o'clock tonight the city will be illuminated by the reflection of the several bonfires that have been built by different clubs and individuals throughout the city. For the past few for the boys of Swede village to have their annual observance this year.

Probably the event that will attract the largest number of people is the "night before" band concert and bonfire in Ayer City. For the past four or five weeks the members of the Willow Social club have worked earnestly to make this event the big thing in the city tonight and they have secured a band to entertain those who gather before the time that the "match is touched." Promptly at 10 o'clock the band will appear and play from the temporary band stand until twelve o'clock. The site of the celebration is one of the best that could be secured in the city and is easy to reach from all parts of the city. The structure is about 25 feet high, is built of railroad sleepers and is filled in with material that will blaze quickly. The members who had charge of the building of this are: Peter A. Gill and James O'Brien.

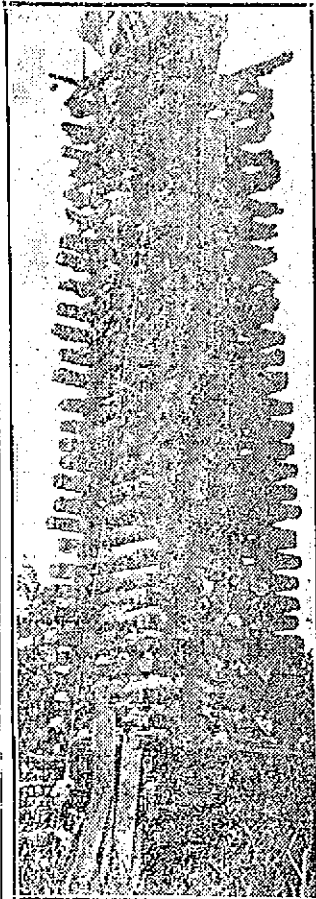

Bonfire at the Grove

Another huge bonfire that has been built by the Shawlight club is situated in the rear of State street near the Concord river. The blaze will be started at 12 o'clock and as the day which is on the top of the highest piece of wood is about 50 feet above the ground it will without doubt be one of the chief attractions in this city tonight. The members of the club who are responsible for this observance are: John Dwyer, John Boyle, Joseph Wilbur and Arthur Walton.

Among the other fires tonight will be one situated in the rear of the residence of John P. Quinn in East Chelmsford and one that was started yesterday on the Lakeview avenue baseball grounds. As the different sections of the city are thus provided for all will be attended

MIDWAY FREAKS ARRIVE

Tents Erected for Feature Shows on Fourth

KIKO, THE FROG EATER, IS DELAYED

While the Snake Charmer and the Fastest Woman on Earth, Slept Over en Route

The South common is being transformed into the habitual midway, and work is progressing rapidly. A certain portion of the common was divided into lots and leased to "business men" of all descriptions, who are now erecting their tents or booths. There is a large gang of would-be and has-been carpenters at work, and the thumping of the hammers can be heard for a long distance.

Democrat wagons, automobiles and dump carts and carts and wagons of all kinds are removing baggage and other paraphernalia of the fairs on the grounds, and before this evening the South common will have taken on the appearance of a miniature city. Already several tents have been erected, while lemonade stands and other stands, too numerous to mention, have been set up and it will be but a few hours before several of the very interesting places are opened for business. The first party to have his place ready is the proprietor of the "Captain and His Happy Family," and "Teddy," the smallest horse in the world, this sign being displayed in large form at the entrance of a medium sized tent. The secret of the "Captain and his family" is not yet revealed, but will be soon, for undoubtedly the modest sum of a nickel, half a dime.

Fifteen carloads of extra large "lemons" were removed to the grounds yesterday, which is a sure sign that red lemonade will be as cheap as toothpicks. A number of "dogs," frankfurters, were also heard barking yesterday, while "Bono," the wonder on his way, "Kiko," the frog eater, is scheduled to arrive some time this afternoon, while "Shiriko," the snake charmer, who is coming by freight, has been delayed somewhere en route. The long bearded woman is coming via an aeroplane, while the world's greatest gorilla, captured in the wilderness of Africa, was shipped to Lowell last week by parcel post. All those wonders will be in Lowell on time for the opening of the grand midway.

The peanut sellers, as well as the man with the scale, who guesses your weight within three pounds, have also leased lots and they are erecting their stands. The fastest woman in the world was scheduled to be on the common at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but her visit was postponed until today because her dressmaker has not yet finished her trousseau. The human skeleton went on a fishing trip yesterday and returned this morning. However, all will be on deck tonight and it is expected they will be in condition for a forty-eight hour stretch on the "eat 'em alive" scale.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL

Will Open at Notre Dame de Lourdes Parochial School Tonight and Will Continue For Three Nights

The annual festival for the benefit of Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street, which will last three days, will formally open this evening. The affair will be held at the parochial school hall, which is now being handsomely decorated for the occasion.

The event is in charge of the women of the parish, headed by the pastor, Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I., and a success is assured. A special program has been prepared for the opening night, while an impromptu program will be carried out on other nights.

HEAD OF ANTI-TRUST LEAGUE

Henry B. Martin Testifies Before the Lobby Investigating Committee

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Edward Lauterbach, the New York lawyer who figured in David Lamar's impersonations of congressmen in telephone talks with New York financiers was not on hand today as the senate lobby committee had expected when it resumed taking testimony. Henry B. Martin, head of a so-called anti-trust league here was called to be examined, however, on Lamar's statement that after he had drawn a resolution for a congressional investigation of the United States steel corporation he gave the resolution to Martin who in turn introduced it in the house.

Before Martin was called, however, Lewis Cass Ledyard, attorney for J. P. Morgan & Co., who had testified yesterday as to Lamar drawing the steel trust resolution resumed the stand for a moment to testify that his information on that point came from Lamar and Lauterbach.

Senators gave Martin a lively examination in an effort to disclose what the "anti-trust league" was and who composed it.

Mr. Martin testified that M. L. Lockwood of Oklahoma was originally its president; he was secretary; Collier T. Brice of this city was treasurer and Herman Schulteis, also of Washington, was counsel. At one time the "league" depended on Attorney General Monett of Ohio for legal advice, he said.

Martin declined to give names of the league's members, because they would suffer "the anger of the great trusts" who would ruin, blacklist them and secure their discharge from employment.

Martin also declined to disclose the expenditure of about $50,000 by the league on the same grounds.

Martin gave the executive committee of the league as consisting of himself, Lockwood, Schulteis, Monett, Brice and W. B. Fleming of Kentucky; C. J. Van Vorhis of Indiana, William Trent of Illinois, W. G. Lafollette of Wisconsin, P. E. Dow of New York and W. H. Green of Nebraska. He said he presented to the secretary of the navy evidence of fraud on plate contracts and that he gave information to other government officials regarding violations of law by the "railroad trust" and "steel trust," harvestor trust and elevator trust at a cost of more than $100,000. He maintained that he drew many bills for introduction into congress, helped to prepare an investigation of the Armour trust and was active in preparation of investigation of the steel trust. Further questioning brought out that Lamar in 1909, when the Wickersham railroad law amendments were before congress, had supplied arguments and information that Martin presented to members. Martin thought such information had led to the striking out of the section uniting railroads from prosecutions.

"Did Lamar prepare the draft of the resolutions for the investigation of the steel?" demanded Senator Cummins.

"It is my recollection that I asked him to prepare it," was the reply.

The committee wanted to know what Martin knew about lobbies in Washington.

He declared that when Chairman Lovett of the Union Pacific board with Paul D. Cravath, counsel, appeared before the department of justice to discuss the Union Pacific dissolution with Attorney General McKendall they had "lobbied" the department. A. C. Dinkley of the Carnegie Steel Co., Vice President Johnson of the Bethlehem Steel Co. and Vice President Pettie of the Midvale Steel Co. had been in Washington in March lobbying for armor plate contracts, Martin declared.

"An active part of that lobby is the navy league," he added.

J. P. Morgan and Herbert Satterlee of Morgan & Co., he named as interested in the navy league.

"The result of their continued lobbying has resulted in the United States paying hundreds of millions for obsolete ships and useless armor," said Mr. Martin.

Up to 11.30 o'clock this morning the jury in the case of Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, tried on a similar charge, had reported no agreement.

GOV. BLAMES TAMMANY MILLIONAIRE RETURNS

Sulzer Talks on Breach of Promise Suit John O'Brien Was Missing for 3 Years

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—Governor William Sulzer of New York, who came here yesterday to attend the semi-centennial celebration of the battle of Gettysburg, gave out a statement yesterday afternoon regarding the breach of promise suit begun against him yesterday in Philadelphia by Miss Mignon Hopkins, a clerk model. The governor declared he did not fear the outcome of the suit, which, he said, "looks like a poor conspiracy and seems to be stale and fishy."

The governor characterized the suit as blackmail instigated by his political enemies, and added that it is "a part of the plot of Boss Murphy and his political conspirators to discredit me because they cannot use me for their nefarious schemes to loot the state of New York."

"Mr. Murphy and his hirelings," Governor Sulzer said, "have been threatening me ever since I became governor, because I would not be a tool and a proxy governor."

"I defied them all to do their worst. Their efforts to injure me with honest people will be abortive. I shall go forward without fear, come what may. I never did a thing in my life of which I am ashamed."

"Suffice it to say," said the governor in conclusion, "that I knew this Hopkins woman years ago. I was a friend of her family in their distress, but I deny emphatically that I ever agreed to marry her; that I ever lived with her, or that I ever held her out of to be my wife."

SEVEN STABBED AT GETTYSBURG

Fight in Dining Room When Men Aroused Anger of Veteran by Abusing Lincoln

GETTYSBURG, Penn., July 3.—Seven men were stabbed last night in a fight in the dining-room of the Gettysburg hotel, as a result of a fight which started when several men aroused the anger of an old veteran in blue by abusing Lincoln.

Several of the wounded men are in a serious condition at the Pennsylvania State hospital.

The state constabulary are making desperate efforts to find the men who did the stabbing.

Farber, Magin and Griffin are in the most serious condition. Their wounds were in the left breast and the surgeons at the Pennsylvania State hospital would not venture predictions as to their chance of recovery.

According to all the information the authorities could gather, the fight started suddenly and was over in a few minutes. It began shortly before 7 o'clock when the dining-room was full of people and caused a panic among the scores of guests.

The old veteran who was unhurt and disappeared in the melee, was sitting near Farber and Carroll when he heard the slighting remarks about Lincoln.

He jumped to his feet and began to defend the martyred president and berated his detractors. The men who were stabbed, according to the information the surgeons gathered, jumped to the defense of the veteran when the others closed in.

Knives were out in a second and the room was in an uproar. Women fled for the doors and crowded to the windows ready to jump to the street below. It was all over before the rest of the men in the room could get their breath and the men responsible for it all had got out and away.

CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN RABBIS

Rabbi Schulman Says Sectional Conferences Are Detrimental to Interests of National Body

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 3.—Rabbi Samuel Schulman of New York, President of the Central Conference of American rabbis in session here, declared in his annual address today against the organization of sectional conferences as detrimental to the interests of the national body, called for a stricter observance of the Jewish Sabbath, recommended the election of rabbis by their congregations for a life term and urged that the constitution of the conference be amended so as not to prohibit the re-election of a president after two terms of service.

Dr. Schulman also discussed the "tendency to identify progressive Judaism with Liberal Christianity" and said that it could be carried too far in the wrong direction. As an example he referred to the Jewish religious school union in New York city which, he said, had selected a professor in a Christian theological seminary as its theologian.

"We are told," said the speaker, "that this professor interpreted the whole of Jewish biblical history as a struggle between the letter and the spirit, between priest and prophet, between legalism and something else, and that finally, he held that the spirit triumphed completely in Jesus. It goes without saying that such an interpretation was resented. The religion of Israel has today interests of its own, which are profoundly differentiated from the religion of Christendom, even in its most liberal form and no Christian scholar, no matter how liberal he may be, can really take the place of a Jew in telling Jews how they should organize their religious educational systems. There is enough in the common teachings of Judaism and Christianity to make possible a real and hearty cooperation between Jew and Christian on behalf of civic and social progress, moral education and humanitarianism without indulging in such theological shams, mixtures, which can produce no good."

Rabbi Schulman denounced the lately organized eastern council of reformed rabbis as a sectional organization which could only "ineptly duplicate the work of the national body or strive to overshadow and discredit it."

The conference, he said, should "in no uncertain terms make it clear that sectional conferences are detrimental to the Central Conference of American rabbis, should not be encouraged and as possible their members should be earnestly requested to disband and reorganize, if a new organization is at all necessary, along purely local lines."

On the subject of life tenure of office for rabbis, the speaker said that such a provision was "in accord with the best traditions of Israel and can only mean the increased efficiency, ministry, free from care and worry for the daily bread."

"In encouraging this procedure," he said, "congregations will do very much to lift the status of the ministry in small places and in not a few large congregations, and will immediately increase the moral authority of the rabbi and will render a solid service to Judaism."

In his plea for stricter observance of the Jewish Sabbath, Rabbi Schulman recommended the appointment of a "Sabbath Observance committee" in America.

MAIL WAGON INJURED

Collision With Auto on Mammoth Road

The mail delivery wagon driven by Carrier Edward Lynch, who is acting as substitute carrier on the Collinsville route during the absence of Mr. Narciso Gaddols, was struck by an automobile this morning about 9 o'clock while traveling along Riverside street, near Mammoth road. The auto, it is said, is owned by Mr. Horace Bacon of Boston.

Mr. Lynch was driving along Riverside street and not knowing that an auto was approaching, he turned toward a mail box just as Mr. Bacon started to pass. The rear wheel of the wagon was struck by the front part of the machine, breaking it in several places and also destroying the head light on the automobile. Mr. Lynch immediately stopped his machine and after resisting in every way possible he journeyed along. A wheel was secured in a nearby blacksmith shop and the letter carrier continued to deliver his mail.

Mr. Bacon stated that the accident was unavoidable and praised Mr. Bacon for bringing his machine to a stop so quickly.

FLEET OF 21 YACHTS

MARBLEHEAD, July 3.—A fleet of 21 yachts left Marblehead at colors today of the Eastern Yacht club's annual cruise to the Maine coast. The wind during the early forenoon was up and down the main but when the tugs, launches and yachts having auxiliary motor power had taken the sailing craft outside a cool zephyr from the southeast greeted them. The fleet included eleven schooners, four steamers, five sloops and a yawl but a third of this number started off immediately for Portland and did not stop for the racing.

The regatta committee waited until nine thirty for the breeze to strike them before sending the small sloops away. Interest in this class centered in the Schimma and Dorelle II, which were expected to have some lively contests during the cruise.

Mr. Griffith was crossing Merrimack street at the junction of Central. He was going on slowly when suddenly he heard the sharp shriek of a motor car.

KILLS SNAKE WITH HATPIN

Woman Thrown From Horse While Riding

LENOX, July 3.—While enjoying a horserack ride yesterday, Mrs. Howard Horback of South Egremont met with an exciting experience with a six-foot rattlesnake, which after a unique battle she succeeded in despatching.

While proceeding along a mountain trail the girl of her saddle slipped and she was thrown from the saddle, striking on her side in the underbrush at the side of the trail.

She was considerably startled as she fell to hear the warning rattle of the snake and see its hideous form coiled ready to strike only about three feet distant. She had nothing with which to protect herself except a long hatpin in her hat.

While in college, however, she had been proficient in an amateur way in using the fells and with the pin began to parry the reptile's attacks upon her until finally with a well-directed thrust she pierced its head with the pin and it was soon writhing in its death agony.

When life had become extinct she cut off its rattles, which numbered 13, and now has them as a trophy of her prowess.

LAWRENCE MILL TO CLOSE

American Woolen Co. Plans Shutdown

BOSTON, July 3.—The mills of the American Woolen company will be closed for two weeks, according to the Boston News bureau, while 15,000 operatives are already permanently idle.

Instead of closing around Labor day, the plants of the company will be closed in July for two weeks, some from July 7 to 21, and others from July 14 to July 28. There will be a complete closing of the big Lawrence mill from July 14 to July 28.

It is stated in Lawrence that the company, as a result of the present disheartening depression in the worsted trade, is operating its plants at only about 25 per cent capacity, and that toward the end of the week, when it is customary to employ fewer operatives, the operating capacity has actually slipped down to under 20 per cent.

It is further stated on authority that at least 15,000 operatives are idle in Lawrence.

ACCUSE DEAD TREASURER

Company Sues Woman for Alleged Shortage

BOSTON, July 3.—What may prove to be a family skeleton was bared in the Suffolk court yesterday when the American Fidelity company filed a suit against Margaret Snell of Brookline to recover $5050.91, which the company alleges was embezzled by the late William Snell while he was treasurer of the William F. Mosser company.

Upon Snell's death, Margaret Snell was appointed administratrix of his estate. The American Fidelity company claims it paid the Mosser company $3311.65 as insurance against loss through the dishonest acts by any of its employees.

The Fidelity company further alleges that it has been informed that Margaret Snell came into possession of certain real and personal property which Snell owned when he died, Nov. 23, 1912. This property is located, the company asserts, in Brookline, and it is further alleged that its present holders are planning to dispose of it.

An injunction to prevent a sale is sought. The Fidelity company declares it holds by assignment all rights which the Mosser company had to it and it further seeks a conveyance to it of the property in question.

Snell was for a long time a trusted employee of the Mosser company and during his life there was no inkling that his affairs while its treasurer, were questionable.

The suit, following his death, has created much interest.

THE FIGHT FOR SCOTT'S MILLIONS

Lady Sackville Swore That She Never Saw the Will of Sir John Murray Scott

LONDON, July 3.—The fight for the legacy to $750,000. He was going to millions," the suit in which the relatives of Sir John Murray Scott are endeavoring to have pronounced invalid on account of alleged undue influence during his lifetime. This he did.

Lady Sackville swore she never saw the will and did not know it had been made until later when Sir John Scott spoke of revoking it. Speaking of her father who had been British minister at Washington, Lady Sackville said he was at times frightfully depressed about the overdraft on his account at the bank. Sir John Scott, she declared, noticing this gave him $45,000 at different times. Part of this was to pay a demand for $5000 to the children of one of his relatives who had died and $2000 to pay expenses at Knole park, including the restoration of some Van Dyck pictures. Scott, she swore, told her he could not bear to see her worried, especially over money matters, adding "Your father is John told her of his intention to leave her $1,000,000. He said to her that her mother was dead Lady Sackville had taken a great place in his life and that he was going to leave to her the $1,000,000, his furniture, his houses at Bagatelle near Paris and at Lisbon and in fact all except the houses in London which he had left to his sisters and brothers.

Later on, according to Lady Sackville he said he intended to reduce her sometimes paid her traveling expenses.

POLICEMAN MILLER HELD

Judge Cannot Understand Why He Fired

BOSTON, July 3.—Patrolman Charles W. Miller, the station 4 policeman charged with shooting and killing Ralph P. Shea of 75 Carver street on the morning of June 17, was held yesterday for the grand jury after a dozen witnesses had testified at the preliminary hearing before Judge Wentworth.

After listening to the evidence and the arguments of former District Attorney Sughrue, who is counsel for Miller, and Attorney Daniel H. Coakley, who is representing the Shea family in the case, and upon whose shoulders rested the prosecution, Judge Wentworth found "probable cause for trial."

"In this case," said the court at the close of the hearing, "I am more inclined to believe the version of the defendant, Miller, than to place my full credence in the case as presented by the prosecution. There is no doubt in my mind but that Miller is telling the truth when he says that young Shea stole his 'billy' and that it was twisted in Shea's hands when the latter was found lying on the stairs at 105 Warren street."

"But I cannot just understand why Patrolman Miller should have fired a second shot from his revolver into the dark entry way of the house into which Shea, whom he was pursuing, darted. I shall therefore hold the defendant for the grand jury. The bonds may stand."

Miller, who has been enjoying his liberty on $1000 bail since his arrest, two days after the shooting, seemed crushed by the decision of the court and left the room in company with brother police officers, in a very dejected mood.

GENERAL SICKLES FORGETS HIS TROUBLES
WHILE A HERO AMONG GETTYSBURG HOSTS

General Daniel E. Sickles, the only surviving corps commander at the Gettysburg celebration, was the center of much interest, not only because of the part he played in the Civil war's great three day struggle, but because of his recent troubles with his wife and with the state of New York over money matters. The aged general, who left a leg at Gettysburg fifty years ago, was photographed in his roller chair in front of the Rogers house with some of his former staff by his side. He said: "The country has changed little. Right out in front of the Rogers house here my boys did some of the sharpest fighting before the final battle of the third day, and from where I sit on the porch I can look out on the spot, off here near Brostet's barn, where I was hit. I thought that was the end of me but, thank God, I lived. Thank God, as one of the boys in gray said to me today, that a sufficient number of us have lived to come to gether here on this anniversary and to clasp hands as brothers."

Former Senator Nelson Aldrich of Rhode Island, one of the wisest men in the national legislature, and one of the greatest living authorities on currency and finance, was not always fond of talking about such deep subjects as senators are supposed to delve in at all times.

One time, not so very long ago, he saw Charles I. Neill, commissioner of labor at the capital.

"Come in, Neill," said the senator. "What do you hear around town?"

"Nothing," replied Neill.

"What do you know about the tariff?" pursued the senator.

"Not a single thing," answered the commissioner.

"Fine! Great! Splendid!" burst out Aldrich. "You're just the man I want to send a long morning with. You're the first man I've met in Washington who doesn't think he knows everything about the tariff. Have a cigar!"

And finally at the end of the list, so that it may never be overlooked or forgotten, our peerless dogwood, the tree that is unrivaled by any other flowering tree in the world, says Outing.

Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth reformer, was condemning cynicism.

"The cynic makes ugly," he said, "everything his cynical eye rests upon. I asked a cynic the other day if he could give me a good definition of an optimist."

"Sure," he replied. "Sure. An optimist is a chap who has just succeeded in doing his neighbor."

FORGET IT

Are you ever puffed up with inordinate pride? Are you ever convinced that deep you would be suddenly die? Do you ever imagine the whole world would praise you? If you were the one in the house? Forget it—the world wouldn't wobble, because it would probably miss others worse.

Are you ever obsessed with the feeling that you are the main spoke in the wheel? Do you ever insist that great honor's your due, and to you all mankind should kneel? Do you ever opine that when you are called hence "I will cause the machinery to break? Forget it—the hole you will leave's as immense. As a needle withdrawn from the lake.

Are you working away as your talents require. And doing the best that you can? Are you honest and square? Does your soul never tire? In loving your own fellow man? Are you meeting each duty, however humble your lot? Are you standing strict watch on your post? That's enough—though we all will be quickly forget. It is you that the world will miss most.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Currency Bill

Worcester Post: Such a measure of fundamental importance as this currency bill, therefore, properly and inevitably even, comes before the country as a democratic measure. If republicans will deal with it candidly and in good faith, seeking to better it, instead of aiming at partisan thunder, it will be their credit and the benefit of the country. If they don't, it only remains to do the best possible.

Shocking

Fall River Globe: Properly shocked, poor man, by the immorality of some of the scanty garments that now constitute the mode in feminine attire, the chief of police of Louisville has issued an order instructing his men to arrest all wearers of skirts unless they have another garment beneath an exposure of—well, say, their silk stockings.

Militancy

Salem News: If ever the militant English suffragettes ran up against a stream of water from a hydrant, with firemen the English militancy will speedily be dispelled. There is nothing like water from a hose to put a stop to foolishness of a variety of types.

A Change Desired

Headaches may be started by a hundred and one derangements of the health, but the actual cause is often impure blood. The nerves of the head are the most sensitive of the entire nervous system. Like all the nerves of the body they are dependent upon pure blood for their health. They are affected by any derangement of the system that throws impurities into the blood. Sufferers from headaches will find that their health is run down or that their digestion is out of order or that there is some other cause why the blood is impure. It is only natural then that the nerves should complain and that the head should ache and throb.

You cannot hope to get complete relief from headaches until you build up and cleanse the blood of all its impurities. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, an excellent blood builder, are recommended to every headache sufferer. In building up the blood, they not only strengthen and tone up the system, but nourish and free the nerves from pain. The pills are free from all harmful or habit-forming drugs which are so common in headache remedies.

Moving Pictures

Brooklyn Enterprise: All people who go to see moving pictures do not go for tedious enjoyment. Many go to see if they can hold pictures that will teach them something. This is the case with thousands of people in certain of the parks in New York. Over 2,000 in one week recently saw in some parks films which were exhibited by the city's board of health and which were calculated to be educational in the matter of tuberculosis. The subject was not cheerful. Yet of course it came home closely to a lot of people; and they were intensely interested as they saw pictures depicting in various ways how the disease should be treated and how it might be fended off entirely. While not as cheerful as some others, such pictures certainly make for instruction and may now and then teach somebody how to save his life, or the life of somebody else.

Error of Judgment

Fall River Herald: Ardent republican newspapers are calling upon Attorney-General McInerney to resign because of the postponement of certain white slave and anti-trust prosecutions in San Francisco. The explanation of the postponement carries nothing worse than a grave error of judgment, and it scarcely measures up to the size of an issue that should call upon a cabinet officer to resign a portfolio which he has held short of four months.

Your Dog

Portland Express: Don't forget to give your dog plenty of water this weather. A dog can't swim like a man, and his automobile, carriage or bicycle. Because a dog acts strangely on the street is by no means evidence that he is "mad." Stables is one of the rarest of diseases. He is suffering from the heat, sickness or some form of abuse. Put water on him and get him into a quiet, shady place, and remember that "mad" dogs never froth at the mouth. Don't tie on your dog. His nature demands freedom and a reasonable amount of exercise. Giving the long dog dogs comfort by having them clipped.

STOP CARS IF MEN STRIKE

"L" Officials Threaten to Suspend Operations

BOSTON, July 3.—In a statement to their union employees last night, the Boston Elevated officials announced that in the event of a strike they would lock up their cars until the differences were adjusted.

This, and the meeting of the Boston chamber of commerce last night where the situation was discussed and where Attorney James H. Vaher announced that he would intercede to prevent a strike on July 4, were the two important developments in the controversy yesterday.

The action of the chamber was taken to avoid the possibility of a tie-up of the Elevated lines and bring the matter to an amicable adjustment.

The voting of the street car men with commence today.

Attorney Vaher assured the chamber's committee appointed last night to act as mediators between the two factions that he would recommend at the carrier's meeting that no strike be declared until the committee of the Carman's union had a further opportunity to confer with the committee of the chamber next Saturday.

In the event of the Elevated taking off their cars a million and more of people would be inconvenienced.

Industrial Training

That apprenticeship is the main reliance of industrial training in Germany, and that it might be desirable to revive it to some form in this country, is the conclusion of Dr. Holmes Beckwith, who has prepared for the United States bureau of education a study of German industrial education and its lessons for the United States.

"Wasteful though the old apprenticeship was of the apprentice's time and effort, apprenticeship in its newer forms, both in Germany and the United States, has been the basis of progress for the future training of industrial workers," says Dr. Beckwith. "No better way, or even as good, has yet been devised for the main training of the mass of industrial workers than in the shops where they are employed and by those who supervise their work."

Dr. Beckwith suggests that if all employers pay the cost of adequate training for any youthful workers whom they may employ as apprentices, the burden will not be serious. He points to industries both here and abroad to prove that "firms employing bona fide apprentices today find that their apprenticeship system pays."

Revival of apprenticeship alone will not solve the problem, however. "What we should strive for," declares Dr. Beckwith, "is such broadening industrial training as will supplement the narrower range of skill and knowledge, and give the specialized worker greater resource. Specialization is probably more widespread in the United States than in Germany, and this constitutes an added need which we have for industrial education greater than that in Germany."

"Industrial schools, then, we must have, and in far greater numbers, to meet the needs of far more workers than at present. Otherwise we can make no claim to really popular education, for the vast majority of workers' activities."

Dr. Beckwith notes the present awakened interest in industrial education in the United States, but issues a word of caution. He fears that unless the vocational movement is carefully guided it will lead to waste of money by states and cities and unwise choice of schools to do the work. He describes in some detail the German industrial-educational system and typical schools, with a view to presenting the best of German experience as a guide to American practice.

Keeping the Body in Repair

Nature intended that the body should do its own repairing—and it would do so were it not for the fact that most of us live other than a natural life.

Nature didn't intend that we should wear corsets, tight collars or shoes, nor live in badly ventilated and draughty houses, nor eat and drink some of the things that we do, nor ride in street cars when we should walk. The consequence is that the body when it gets out of order must look for outside help to make the necessary repairs.

Most everyone knows "Dave" Petrie, the big traffic policeman in Merrimack square. His work in preserving order and preventing accidents in that congested spot has been rather remarkable and he has on more than one occasion been commended for some deed of courage. FOREST FIRE AT CAPE

All Men and Boys Fight
Threatening Blaze

BOURNBROOK, July 3.—All of the available men and boys in this section of Cape Cod were called upon today to assist in fighting a forest fire which in the afternoon had assumed threatening proportions and driven by a strong wind was heading for the summer colony in Monument beach. The fire started yesterday morning on a dump between Bourne and Bourneville, where refuse from the New Cape Cod canal is being placed. It burned toward Sagamore until this morning when a shift in the wind sent it in the opposite direction.

A portion of the territory was burned over a few years ago, but Cape Codders declare the present blaze to be the worst that they have had to contend with for 25 years.

LECTURER ELLIS LOCATED

Found in California With Daughter

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The presence in California of John Ellis, the Boston newspaperman and lecturer, who a short time ago fled from Massachusetts with his little daughter after a court had awarded her to Mrs. Ellis in a divorce proceeding, has been discovered through the medium of the "movies."

At the time of the trial a school-teacher of Berkeley became interested in the case and when Ellis disappeared with his daughter she gave a picture of the child with the mother's address to a moving picture agency, which showed it in California cities. Mrs. Michael Palmer, wife of a hotelkeeper here, saw the mother's appeal in a moving picture theatre recently and recognized the little girl as one who, with her father, had stayed at the hotel for several weeks. The man had registered, she said, as "D. De Lisle" and had gone to enforce their De Lisle and had gone to enforce their search for the man and child has been instituted in Eureka.

BOSTON CARMEN READY TO STRIKE

The Boston L. Employees Attended
Meeting Today — Cov. Bancroft Makes Statement

BOSTON, July 3.—The possibility of a strike of the union conductors and motormen employed by the Boston Elevated Ry. Co. became more threatening this afternoon, the sentiment publicly expressed by many of the men who attended a meeting to vote on the question of striking to enforce their demands for increased wages being in favor of quitting. The question put to the men who will continue balloting throughout the day and night, set no time for the calling of a strike. Reports that in the event of a strike the company would lock up its cars, and make no effort to continue its service was denied today by the president, Gen. William A. Bancroft. In a statement, he said: "The Elevated has not said it would not attempt to run cars. On the contrary the company is keenly alive to its responsibility and in the event of a strike will do everything that is proper and feasible to perform the service the public requires. The question of whether the company can continue to operate its cars depends entirely upon the number of its employees who are willing to support it in fulfilling its obligation to the government, and upon the public's attitude toward this obligation."

THE SMOKE INSPECTOR

Makes a Trip to the Brewery and the Hay State Mills in Lawrence Street.

Smoke Inspector Riley visited the plant of the Harvard brewery yesterday and for no other purpose than to ascertain what was being done along the line of smoke suppression. He talked with the brewery's chief engineer, Mike Heller, and learned that a smoke consuming device was being tried out there.

Mr. Riley also visited the Hay State mills and found that an oil burning device had been installed but that it had been objected to by fire insurance companies because it was necessary to store two barrels of oil on the premises. The inspector ordered the Hay State people either to reequip the old system or put in a new one.

Mr. Riley said he had received a number of complaints about smoke issuing from a building in Merrimack square and he said he would investigate.

VETS WASHING UP IN CAMP
PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Here you are with the camera man on the field of Gettysburg, fifty years after the Civil war's greatest battle. Over 40,000 veterans encamped on ground adjacent to the famous battle-field. Old comrades met for the first time in years. Men who tried to slaughter each other half a century ago shook hands with smiles on their faces and warm sympathy in their hearts for each other's growing infirmities. They lived over again those bloody thirty hours of the three day fight. But there was a practical side to their experience. They camped out as in days gone by, using common tin basins and roughing it in many ways. The regular army soldiers made it as comfortable and as hospitable as possible for the vets. One of them is seen in the picture showing an aged fighter of '63 how the modern rule now in use in the army works.

STRAIGHT PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM

No Compromise With the Older
Parties Was Keynote of Address by Oscar Straus

NEWPORT, R. I., July 3.—No compromise with the older parties, but a straight progressive program predicated upon social justice favoring neither capital nor labor, was the keynote of the address made at the progressive conference today by Oscar Straus, who was the candidate for the governor of New York on the progressive ticket last fall. "Mr. Fairbanks, former vice president, recently voiced the sentiment of a number of well-intentioned republicans when he called upon the progressives and progressives to forget past differences and to return to the fold," said Mr. Straus.

"Those who believe or hope that the reactionary republicans and the progressives can ever be merged, misunderstand the true meaning and significance of progressivism. It is not a political faction, but a moral awakening—not a partisan bolt, but a determined patriotic purpose to adjust our political life to conserve the basic principles of true democracy and to conform our economic and industrial development to human needs."

ADAMS HOLDS LYNN

Lowell Won by Score of 9 to 5

Pitcher Adams held Lynn scoreless yesterday until the last inning, and Lowell won by the score of 9 to 5. Lowell batted Harrington hard during the four innings that he remained on the mound and Flaherty, who succeeded him, fared no better. Seven hits were gathered from Adams' assortment of shots but the Lowell pitcher did nothing more than lob the ball up to the plate in the last few innings.

Miller and Halstein clouted the ball hard for the locals although every man on the team with the exception of Clements got a hit. Lowell showed superiority in every department of the game.

Shortstop Courtney, who has been loaned to Lowell by Manager Piper of Lawrence while Aubrey is on the injured list, played a nice game, although his wild heave in the ninth allowed Neptune to score. The score:

They will make a circuit of the various points of interest tonight, and both men with their teams and man- agers will be at the ball game tomor- row morning.

Larry Burns of Lawrence and Tom- my McFarland of Boston will box eight rounds in the semi-final. Both boys are rugged boxers of the two handed type and this bout should prove nearly as good as the main event. These men will also be at the ball game tomorrow so that the members can be certain that the semi-final will also go on as bil- lited by the club management.

Young Williams of Lawrence and Young Hamilton of Lowell will box a preliminary of six rounds. Williams is a very strong, aggressive boy and the local boxer will have his work cut out for him getting away from his hay- makers.

Nicholas Markopoulos, the strong man of the Greek colony, will tackle Joseph Fritz, the champion of the Polish gymnasium, in a wrestling match. The Polish champion is ruled as the favorite but as his opponent is very fast the outcome of the mat contest is by no means certain. These two wrest- lers have never met before and neither has ever been defeated.

The baseball game between the Burkes and the Hamiltons will also be a stellar event. These two teams are the fastest in the city and a great deal of interest is being manifested in amateur circles as to the outcome of the game.

The club announces that no one who is not a bona fide member of the club will be allowed to attend the enter- tainment and that this regulation will be strictly adhered to. The club also announced that, in case of rain on the Fourth the game will be presented to the members on Saturday afternoon at the same place. Applications for membership can be made at the club's headquarters in the Mildred building.

Lillian Shumy, who is heard in a brace of the latest illustrat- ed songs, Billy Ray, novelty musical act and Will Carpenter, who displays some really wonderful tricks on roller skates. The photo-plays are also new, being changed today and include sev- eral dramatic as well as comedy sub- jects. Performances continue from 7 to 10.30. Always something going on.

DAHLEN SAYS WHEAT IS MOST

VALUABLE OUTFIELDER IN LEAGUE

Bill Dahlen of Brooklyn declares that Zach Wheat is the most valuable outfielder in the National league. "There isn't anything he cannot do, and he possesses a wonderful throw- ing arm. As a base runner he is one of the best in the game. Although he is not hitting as hard as he did last year or the one before, he is lit- tling when his means runs. No, sir, other outfielder in the parent baseball organization. Wheat can almost tell just what direction to go to get under the ball as soon as it is hit. OVER THIS WALL PICKETT'S BRAVE BRIGADE CHARGED IN GETTYSBURG'S CHIEF TRAGEDY

More than one old vet sat on this famous stone wall on the field of Gettysburg and corrected each other's version of how the battle was fought. This group was snapped at the point where Pickett's brigade made its great charge over the wall and reached the "high water mark" in the Civil war. Over this stone wall General Pickett led his 6,000 brave Virginians and charged "Little Round Top." It was the one great tragedy of the three-day slaughter. Over half of the rebels were slain in that daring, but useless dash for victory.

MISSING SINCE MAY 10

New York Manufacturer Returns Home

NEW YORK, July 3.—Frederick Borger, the retired manufacturer, who disappeared strangely from his $100,000 home at Neilson avenue and Mills street, Far Rockaway, just after its completion on May 10 last and for whom the police and Burns detectives had been searching in vain, returned to his home yesterday. He told a remarkable story of a sudden mental derangement that led him unwittingly to Philadelphia and remained there until a slight of mind brought him back to his home and he was able to return to his home.

Borger, although only 45 years old, had acquired a comfortable fortune that he retired from business about six years ago.

On May 10 he left home early in the morning, carrying $551 in cash to pay some bills. He says he recalls only leaving a train in Far Rockaway for New York, and that his next consciousness was in a room in the Ridge-way hotel in Philadelphia, feeling very ill and hiding himself with a trained nurse at his bedside and physicians in attendance.

He had not been robbed, he said.

FIREMEN NEAR DEATH

N. Y. Stable Destroyed—Pets Perish

NEW YORK, July 3.—Roast squab—20 of them—a single Maltese cat, five little kittens all burned up, the heroic rescue of a Japanese hen by a sixteen-year-old girl, and the narrow escape with their lives of four firemen in the falling of a burning roof and damage to the extent of $3,000 were the result of a fire which occurred in the one-story brick stable in the rear of McGowan's Pass Tavern in Central Park yesterday afternoon. The city lost a lot of gardening tools which were stored in the building.

The remote location of the tavern caused considerable delay in the arrival of the fire apparatus, which was summoned by Miss Helen Behm, the young daughter of the proprietor.

Capt. James Tierney of Hook and Ladder No. 12, with Probation Firemen Arthur Norton of the same company and Fireman James Roche and Frank Lane of Hook and Ladder No. 26 were at work with axes on the roof when it gave way and sank into the flaming building. The men leaped wildly to save themselves from being carried with it and succeeded.

On the limb of a tree near the stable sat a Japanese rooster, with snake and spurs all about him. When Miss Behm saw that the soiled father's coat, which he had tossed off on the turf, and covering her head to keep her hair from catching fire, she pulled the rooster down and flung him to safety. When he raised a great outcry Miss Behm realized it was because his wife was on a nest in the stable.

Before the firemen or her father could stop her she had rushed into the burning stable and came out with a hen which cackled its gratitude loudly, albeit in the English of the pigeons which were burned.

Many making parties were at the tavern and a big group of men and women watched the fire, the women screaming when the firemen came so near being caught in the blaze and joining Miss Behm in her tears over the loss of her pet pigeons and kittens.

GOVERNOR'S DAY TODAY

Observed at Gettysburg—Big Parade

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—Although thousands of veterans have left the uncertain joys of camp life behind and started for home their going made little difference in the appearance of the battlefield camp today, for thousands of others were on hand to participate in the exercises of Governor's day. On both sides of Confederate avenue the tents were alive with veterans and the lines before the cook tents did not seem to the cooks to have lost an inch, although the number that has left is estimated at close to 16,000.

The veterans acted today like a lot of schoolboys whose vacation is only a few days away. Long before sunrise they began parading the camp to the music of "The Streets of Cairo" played on fife and drums. The paraders were hard workers and the band had powerful lungs and hands for they kept it up until morn call.

Many of the men who expect to leave tomorrow paid their farewell calls today on those of the other army. They have come to know. There was no doubt in the minds of those who saw that so far as these men are concerned the war has ceased to be a source of hatred and rancor.

STORM BRINGS RELIEF TO THOUSANDS OF VETERANS AT GETTYSBURG

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—A roaring storm swept down out of the Blue Ridge over the plateau of Gettysburg yesterday, bringing needed relief to thousands of veterans in blue and gray who have sweated for four days in an atmosphere that would do credit to a fireless cooker but is dangerous in a city of 50,000 old and weary men.

For more than a half hour the rain came pouring down upon the sun-cracked and wind-swept encampment.

It charged with violent thundering over the ground that Pickett covered in '63. Its salvos of thunder were like the booming guns of Meade and Lee but the thermometer dropped with wonderful agility and the lightning

Doek Can Be Saved

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Officials of the navy department today will take up the report of the board that investigated the injury sustained by the naval drydock at Pearl harbor through the lifting of part of the floor. The damage to the dock has been found to be less than was at first supposed. The dock can be saved, it is believed, and the department relieved from the necessity of substituting a floating dock.

The department is desirous of completing the dock as soon as possible after the opening of the Panama canal in order to clear the Atlantic fleet, which is to visit Pacific waters.

TWO DROWNED IN THIS CITY TODAY

Joseph Daigle, Aged 18, and Wm. Sicard, Aged 6, Lost Their Lives While Bathing

Joseph Daigle, aged 18 years, and Wm. Sicard, aged 6 years, were drowned today while bathing in the Suffolk canal at the Moody street bridge. I was the first to dive and Daigle soon followed. After remaining in the water a few minutes, I came out again and noticed my companion who was swimming toward the Merrimack street bridge. As he was an exceptionally good swimmer I did not pay much attention to him.
There was one man standing on the Merrimack street bridge watching the pair of us, and suddenly he shouted to me that my companion was drowning. It was then I saw Daigle sink under the bridge. I dove into the water and swam to his assistance, but when I reached the spot where I last saw him, he was out of sight. I dove to the bottom of the canal in search for him, but I failed to locate his body.
"After clothing myself I took my companion's clothes and brought them to my home, 505 Suffolk street, and immediately notified Undertaker Joseph Albert. We then went to the Boat Mill and notified the mother of the young man, Mrs. Desire Daigle, who resides in Tyngsboro.

PALMER DEFENDS INCOME TAX

Chairman of House Democratic Caucus Addresses Maryland Bar Association

CAPITOL HILL, July 3.—Declaring that in future an income tax of some kind will always form a part of the fiscal system of the United States, Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, chairman of the House Democratic Caucus, defended the income provision of the tariff bill before the Maryland Bar Association in conference, today.

Mr. Palmer first took up that feature of the bill which he said, was the one that had not met with the greatest objections from business men and corporation managers as coming upon them the burden of tax collection. In answer he declared in substance that the large benefits to the government far outweigh in the minds of those responsible for the legislation the assistance to business men.

"Where the income of a person is thus paid at the source," said Mr. Palmer, "the benefit of the exemption will be allowed only where notice claiming the exemption, accompanied by an affidavit, shall be served, within the time specified by the law, upon the person required to make such payment at the source."

It is the belief of the framers of the bill that this provision, while, of course, requiring a large number of persons to act as tax collectors for the government, will not result in any unfairness, injustice or hardship.

Corporations and other business men he continued, usually conduct their business with such system that the returns, after they have become familiar with the requirements of the law, will be made without serious interference with the usual course of business. Under the system adopted, Mr. Palmer said, it is inconceivable to suppose that much of the tax, justly due, would escape the collector.

Easy for Corporations

"A couple of years' experience," continued Mr. Palmer, "in the operation of the law will reduce the returns, which business men see on the horizon, to a mere mole hill. It will be just as easy for a corporation, in paying the interest upon its indebtedness, to pay to the party entitled thereto 50 cents on the dollar and retain for the government the remaining one cent, as it now is for it to pay 100 cents to the holder of its obligation."

When a corporation is required to bear a coupon, a bond payable to bearer is presented to the corporation direct from the owner, the withholding of the tax will be easy; where the coupon is deposited with a bank for collection, it will be equally free from difficulty. It is only where the coupon is sold to another or used in trade, before presentation to the obligor, that the operation of the law becomes troublesome. Even then, it is not difficult, for the holder of the coupon, if a taxable person whose income is sufficiently large from other sources, to permit him to secure his legal exemption and deductions elsewhere, and show them in his personal return, will use his coupon just as he does now, except that when it leaves his hand he will receive for it 99 per cent of its face value.

Exemption a Feature

Mr. Palmer discussed the exemption feature of the law, which, he said, had been condemned in toto by many critics of the measure, "on the principle that every person having an income should pay his due share of taxes for the support of the government and that the realizing sense of his responsibility, fostered upon his mind by the payment of such a tax, would operate to inspire the citizen to enforce rigid economy in the expenditure of public moneys."

"In the first place," continued Mr. Palmer, "there is a point in the size of an income, below which the expense of collection would be greater than the amount of the tax. The government would derive no benefit from such a tax and the burden upon the consumer would be carried for no public use."

"The present system of taxation is unequal, favoring the wealthy and well-to-do. If the proposed system should be unequal, favoring the poor, the ultimate result of our entire system of taxation would be nearer to a general equalization than we have yet reached. It seems to me also that it is the part of wisdom to leave freedom of action to every citizen, and that no citizen which is necessary or may be required to rear and support his family according to the American standard and to educate his children in the best manner which the educational system of the country affords."

Country Believes in System

"The country has shown that it believes in this new system of taxation and desires its permanency as a part of the fiscal system. It is entirely proper, therefore, that in writing the details of the law, we should have in mind something which might encourage the purpose and intent of the American people in authorizing this kind of legislation."

One of the chief criticisms of the pending measure, Mr. Palmer declared, was entirely due to a misapprehension of its provisions regarding the exemption of mutual life insurance companies.

"The life insurance companies," he continued, "believe in the system of taxation, and they are not for profit but for the benefit of the policy holders. They should be entirely exempt from taxation, or that all moneys returned to policy holders, in whatever form, should be considered not as

Child Was Running to Meet Father

BEVERLY, July 3.—Elizabeth, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Holden of Conant street, North Beverly, is at the Beverly hospital with a fractured skull and is on an automobile accident at North Beverly last night.

Waiting for Father

Miss Alice R. Pierce of Proctor's Crossing, driver of a powerful motor car, was at the wheel of the car which hit the little Holden girl. Standing on the sidewalk near her home, the child espied her father getting off the car and started to meet him.

In an instant the big machine driven by Mrs. Pierce was upon her, and before the horrified spectators the child was knocked down on the hard macadam with such force that her skull was fractured, and there were other injuries, which, it is feared, may cause her death.

There has been much complaint at North Beverly over the speeding of motor cars on the state highway, but the accident in which Mrs. Pierce figures is the first serious one this summer.

Mrs. Pierce is well known in Salem and North Beverly and for many years was much interested in driving horses, and still drives many, although she is a devotee of motoring and other out-of-door sports. Only recently she figured in another accident at Beverly Cove, in which the car she was driving was considerably damaged.

CHELMSFORD

No program has been arranged for a public celebration of the Fourth but a ball game will be played between "The Old Timers" and "The Climbers" in which great interest has been aroused.

In order to insure the best fire protection tonight and tomorrow, Chief Ralph P. Adams of the fire department and Forest Warden Arnold C. Perkins will have a man stationed at the telephone in the town hall throughout the night and tomorrow up to midnight. The number of the phone is 2482-R.

To provide an adequate water supply for the Centre, wells have been driven in land at the foot of Warren avenue to the depth of 41 feet and 45 feet respectively and water rose to within 15 inches of the surface of the ground. Samples of the water will be tested by the state board of health, and if approved, ten wells will be drilled.

I tried all of the standard remedies and at one time feared it would be a life-long annoyance. I finally sent for a sample of your SULPHOLAC and after one or two applications, found very marked improvement. I purchased a jar, used it conscientiously, and in a very short

Noted Cold Water Swimmer Is Here Once Again, Ready to Meet All Competitors

The well known swimmer, Michael Larkin, who used to cut holes in the ice in mid-winter to enjoy a swim, has returned to this city and, it is said, will take part in the swimming race tomorrow in connection with the regatta of the Lowell Motorboat club on the Merrimack. He expressed himself as anxious to meet any of the local swimming experts in a race for any distance. A short time ago Frank Murphy issued a challenge, which Larkin accepted, and it looks as though the two are destined to get together.

Some years ago Mike Larkin was not in the best of health and he was thought to be suffering from tuberculosis. He started in to swim and, to his great improvement, resulted with remarkable quickness. When the cold weather came, Mike swam just the same, cutting holes in the ice in the river in order to get into the water. He visited many cities, giving exhibitions and thus derived other benefits by putting his skill in the water into practical use.

Murphy says he will not enter the water tomorrow, but his pal, Ed McCormack, will participate. Frank says that the prizes offered are not of sufficient magnitude to induce him to compete.

STORY OF GREEK VALOR

As Told by an American Soldier Who Served Under the Greek King at the Siege of Bezanze

Through the courtesy of Rev. C. H. Demetry, formerly of the local Greek church, The Sun has received a copy of a book giving a very graphic account of the siege of Bezanze by the Greek army in Epirus, during the war in the Balkans. The book is written by T. S. Hutchinson, brigadier general of the National Guard of Tennessee, retired, who served under the Greek king during the siege of Bezanze. He tells a thrilling story of the exploits, the bravery and prowess of the Greek soldier as judged by his work in the army, the navy and in whatever duty he may be placed. The book is of great interest to Americans as well as to Greeks and will be widely read as it is up to the minute in its treatment of the subject in hand.

COLOGNE, Germany, July 2.—The situation in the Balkans is regarded as so critical that an order for the mobilization of the Roumanian army is expected today, according to a dispatch from Bucharest to the Cologne Gazette.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, July 13, in The Lowell Five Cent Savings bank will draw interest from that day.

LOWELL LOOMS LARGE IN CENSUS

47th in Population and 39th in Production—Employs as Many Wage Earners as Vermont

The recent publication known as the abstract of the 13th census of the United States contains valuable statistics. The statistics of manufacturing are especially interesting and a perusal of the facts concerning states, cities and industries is interesting when a comparison is made between Lowell and other cities, and also when compared with some of the states.

Considered from a standpoint of population Lowell ranks 47th, and from the summary of cities relative to the value of products Lowell occupies a position 35th in the list. In New England her rank is seventh and in Massachusetts sixth. While much is heard these days concerning the opportunities of the south and southwest, the following comparison will be of interest and should tend to bring about a realization of the importance of Lowell and the opportunities existing here.

Lowell has 32,575 wage earners, which is about 1000 less wage earners than are employed in the state of Vermont, and more than are employed in North Dakota, South Dakota or Nebraska, and about as many as are employed in Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada.

Lowell pays annually in wages about $16,000,000, which is more than the states of Nebraska, Delaware, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, Utah or Nevada, and more money than is paid to wage earners in the combination of the following states: South Dakota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Idaho and Wyoming.

The capital devoted to manufacturing in Lowell amounts to $61,584,000, which is in excess of any of the following states: Delaware, North Dakota, South Dakota, District of Columbia, Oklahoma, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada. The value of the products of Lowell amount to $59,271,000, which is a greater value than the products manufactured in the states of Vermont, Florida, Mississippi, Arizona and Oklahoma, and greater than the combined states of North and South Dakota, District of Columbia, Idaho and Wyoming.

FIGHT ON CURRENCY

Committee Attacked by Sheriffs Swoop Down on Republicans

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The methods of the democrats of the house banking and currency committee in the consideration of the administration currency bill, caused a storm in the house yesterday. Rep. Lindbergh, progressive member of the committee, after complaining, as a matter of personal privilege that he was not allowed to attend meetings of the majority members considering the bill, asked that the house pass at once a resolution providing for an investigation of the committee's conduct. Speaker Clark prevented consideration of the measure by a parliamentary ruling. Republican members of the committee have been complaining bitterly of the consideration of the bill by the democrats in "secret session" and yesterday they passed a resolution condemning the practice.

Chairman Glass in a statement last night replied to the criticisms declaring that when the republicans were in power they passed the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill without giving the committee or the house time to consider it. Representative Lindbergh introduced a bill yesterday for an issue of $500,000,000 federal reserve notes to be loaned to farmers on farm mortgages, and to place at the disposal of the federal reserve board the power of the administration currency bill the postal savings deposits for the same purpose. It would increase the postal saving interest rate from 2 to 2 1/2 per cent and increase the limit of deposits from $50 to $100.

BALL PLAYERS AT FIRE

Lowell Men Extinguish Blaze at Lynn

Four members of the Lowell baseball team made a great hit yesterday with the Lynn public when they temporarily prevented the role of fire fighters and extinguished a blazing roof which had not been discovered until the ball players happened to pass the building on the way to the ball park.

Henderson, Dec, Miller and Clemens were the four ball tossers who made the Lynn fire sick with envy as they scaled the walls and clambered on to the roof of the house situated at 11 Newhall street, where the shingles were already blazing. The players were all in their uniforms and their spit of shoes proved just the thing to prevent them from sliding down the roof's incline. Shortly after the boy who handled the fire, for Shorty was made the end of the line, and passed the water buckets as they came up from below. The fire was soon extinguished, but it was very fortunate for the owners of the property that the ball players observed the blaze or in all probability the building would have been burned to the ground before the fire department reached the spot.

101 RANCH WILD WEST SHOW

MISS BESSIE HESBERG

Great Aggregation in Imposing Street Parade.—Big Attendance This Afternoon

Favored by perfect weather the famous Miller Brothers and Arlington's 101 Ranch Wild West show came to Lowell today to give two performances at the Fair Grounds in Graham street. The advent of the circus was as usual proclaimed in a gorgeous manner by the splendid street parade which passed through Merrimack street about half past ten o'clock.

Take it from us, the parade is no small feature of the circus and a Wild West show without a parade is like breakfast without coffee. Without the morning procession, circus day would have nothing of the festive aspect which stamps it as a near holiday, and it is quite certain that the attendance at the performances would not be as large if the people were not convinced by the street parade of the mammoth proportions of the show.

Down found the circus well high transported to the fair grounds, so quickly and so systematically do the men work. Throughout the morning the inevitable souvenir men with the red and blue balloons, whistles, canes, banners, badges, etc. flocked about the streets bringing their wares to the notice of the children, leaving it to the little ones to make the necessary demand on parent or guardian. Great students of human nature are these rounders.

About half past ten o'clock the faint sound of a band was heard in the distance and from thousands of throats went up the cry, "Here It Comes!" and everybody rushed to get a good place at the curb. Then there proceeded down Central street over Merrimack street a magnificent parade of a genuine troupe of old and young alike. There were sun-browned cowboys and cowgirls, copper-colored Indians, several cowboy bands and floats depicting incidents of the far west. Two interesting features were the old stage coach-er, dilapidated and riding with a boat like motion on the leather straps arranged to take the place of springs. The Indians were headed by Chief Iron Tail, an Ojiblah Sioux of the age of 55 years. Chief Iron Tail is the identical Indian the reproduction of whose head appears on the new nickel recently issued in circulation by Uncle Sam. His profile is a remarkable one, possessing the real characteristics of the Indian features. He is very proud of having been selected for the honor of having the new nickels adorned with his picture.

The horses of the 101 Ranch are remarkable specimens and are very numerous. Their well kept condition is a source of real delight to the lovers of horse flesh who view the parade or attend the show. This show has always been noted for its horses, and the men take exceedingly good care of the animals.

A trained buffalo is an unusual feature of the Wild West show. It is generally conceded that the buffalo is about the hardest animal known to man. There are several of these buffaloes with the show and they are all fine specimens. Another interesting feature was the long horned steer, an animal seldom seen in the east.

Immediately after the parade many journeyed to the grounds to see the tents and the animals and wait around for the opening of the main tent. A large number of special cars were called into use and were kept busy throughout the entire afternoon. There were, of course, very many visitors to the city from the surrounding towns, and the fact that tonight is the famous "Night Before the Fourth" furnishes an added attraction. It is a case of "We won't go home until morning" with the most of the folks and well dressed day and the Fourth of July are not numerous on the calendar and no one can afford to spend himself on such occasions.

Among the performers are ropers and rough riders from the great Cheyenne frontier day and the famous round-up at Pendleton, credited with being the most expert in the world. The cowgirls with the show include some of the best performers in the world. Mrs. Clyde Lindsay is an expert, who gives a wonderful riding performance.

The attendance at the afternoon performance was largely attended and as the seats are in the open the show was greatly enjoyed. The arena in which the show is given is the coolest place in town.

DRINK 143,300,000 GALS. OF BOOZE

Drinkers and Smokers of This Country Break Records—7,707,000,000 Cigars Puffed

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The American people drank more whiskey and beer, smoked more cigars and cigarettes and chewed more tobacco during the fiscal year 1912 than in any other year of the nation's history, according to estimates based yesterday upon the record-breaking internal revenue receipts of the federal government for the 12 months ended June 30.

The drinkers of the country consumed the enormous total of 143,300,000 gallons of whiskey and brandy, an increase of 7,500,000 gallons over the previous year and breaking the former high record of the fiscal year 1911 of 135,800,000 gallons. Sixty-four million five hundred thousand barrels of beer flowed down the throats of lovers of the amber brew, exceeding 1911's great record by more than 1,000,000 barrels.

Smokers puffed into space 7,707,000,000 cigars and 14,012,000,000 cigarettes during the year just closed. This was

In a boat with his wife and sister was William Mischner. He jumped into the river and tried to swim to young Mischner. But the rescuer was whirled by the current until he too disappeared. Both he and Mischner were drowned.

Meanwhile a trolley motorman reached Mrs. Mischner, pulled her to shore and helped to revive her.

AS THE VICTIM STARTED WILL RECOVER

Husband in Court for Threatening to Kill His Wife—Other Offenders Sentenced

All of the Turks who were arrested in connection with the riot in Liberty square last week had their cases continued again until July 10. The four men, Ali Akcey, Mohamed Genal, Ali Mohamed and Ali Mohamed, who are charged with assault and attempt to kill, had their bail reduced from $2000 to $1000 in view of the fact that their alleged victim is now on the road to recovery.

Peter Morone was charged with threatening to kill his wife and plead not guilty. His wife took the stand and testified that the defendant told her yesterday that he would kill her before the day was out. She gave his character a very hard scoring and said that he refused to provide for their children. He was placed under bonds to keep the peace.

Edmund Vanderveelde and Prosper Deconclerere were charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace and both pleaded not guilty. The testimony in the case brought out the fact very clearly that the former had made all the trouble. Judge Enright ordered Edmund to pay a fine of $15 and discharged his companion.

James H. Gaffney, an old offender, was sent to the state farm for drunkenness. There were four first offenders whom Probation Officer Slattery released.

SAILORS ACT AS COPS

Do Police Duty at City of Gloucester

GLoucester, July 3.—Two U. S. battleships and five torpedo boat destroyers arrived yesterday with 200 blue jackets. At Rockport are an equal number of Uncle Sam's ships and sailors.

Recognizing that Gloucester is crippled by want of an adequate police force, Chief of Police Charles S. Marchand asked Commodore Frank Evans, for a detail of ship police, and was given 15 men for local patrol duty. It is understood that a similar force of ship police is doing shore duty in and about Rockport.

The Utah and North Dakota are the battleships and the Tripp, Burrows, Ammen, Monaghan and Tatterton are the destroyers here. The Monaghan is the flagship of the fleet. The Rhode Island and Georgia are the battleships at Rockport.

BOSTON, July 3.—The new public service commission which is to supervise the public service corporations of the state is to organize this morning with the selection of the Hon. Frederick J. Macleod of Cambridge as chairman.

Mr. Macleod was chairman of the old railroad commission whose place is taken by the new commission. The new commission began its duties on July 1 with the three members of the railroad commission as its working members.

Yesterday, however, the governor's council confirmed George P. Lawrence and George W. Anderson as the two additional members of the commission.

BABIES CRY FOR MOTHER

Somerville Woman Missing More Than Week

BOSTON, July 3.—"When will mama be home?" is the question little three-year-old Willie Thornton of 62 Prescott street, Somerville, is asking his father every night before he goes to sleep.

"Tomorrow" is invariably the reply of the father, and the little lad falls to sleep in hope of seeing his mother in the morning. Mrs. Thornton has been missing since Wednesday of last week and no trace of her has been found by her husband or the police.

She left behind three children, the oldest three years and the youngest five months. The woman left a note saying that it was useless for her husband to look for her as he would never find her, and she also made some mention of "seeing the bottom of the river."

FOR SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

Many Features That Can be Enjoyed Without Danger of Accident—Official Program

All is now in readiness for the celebration of Independence day in Lowell, and if the program is carried out as planned Fourth will be one of the safest Fourths ever observed in this city. If the youngsters as well as the adults pay attention to the good advice of the officials of the city, the fireworks and fireworks will be scarce in the Spindle City tomorrow, and the day after there will be fewer patients in the hospitals, for it is a known fact that there are always more or less accidents on this day caused from the negligent use of firearms or fireworks.

There will be no parade in Lowell tomorrow, but nevertheless who ever wants to spend a good, enjoyable day may do so, for there will be plenty of opportunities for amusement. The city officials have provided for hard centers in various sections of the city, while there will be sporting events of all descriptions.

One may start in the forenoon by attending the battle between Lowell and Worcester at Spaulding park, this interesting game of baseball to be held at 10 o'clock, while in the afternoon boxing and wrestling bouts and a good program of sports will be carried out at the same place. The theatres also offer good bills for tomorrow, and to those who are not interested in athletics, there places ought to appeal.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon a swimming race will be held on the Merrimack river, above the falls, and this ought to prove a big attraction, for several notable swimmers are expected to take part in the contest. This will be followed by motor boat races and canoe races, which will also be very interesting.

Several amateur baseball games will be played on the North common and other grounds in the city. The annual picnic of Court St. Antoine, C. O. F., will be held all day at Daigle farm in Draught.

The midway and the circus will be the chief attractions this evening, while at midnight several bonfires will be lighted in various parts of the city. There are many, who despite the adverse the old Fair Grounds has been the scene of one of the largest bonfires of the season but as the grounds have been used by the circus officials for this day and evening it was impossible for the boys of Swede village to have their annual observance this year.

Probably the event that will attract the largest number of people is the "night before" band concert and bonfire in Ayer City. For the past four or five weeks the members of the Willow social club have worked earnestly to make this event the big thing in the city tonight and they have secured a band to serenade those who gather before the time that the "match is touched." Promptly at 10 o'clock the band will appear and play from the temporary band stand until twelve o'clock. The site of the celebration is one of the best that could be secured in the city and is easy to reach from all parts of the city. The structure is about 65 feet high, is built of railroad sleepers and is filled with material that will blaze quickly. The members who had charge of the building of this are: Peter A. Gill and James O'Brien.

Another huge bonfire that has been built by the Shawlight club is situated in the rear of State street near the Concord river. The blaze will be started at 12 o'clock and as the flag which is on the top of the highest piece of wood is about 90 feet above the ground, it will without doubt be one of the chief attractions in this city tonight. The members of the club who are responsible for this observance are: John Dwyer, John Boyle, Joseph Wilbur and Arthur Walton.

Among the other fires tonight will be one situated in the rear of the residence of John F. Quinn in East Chelmsford and one that was started yesterday on the Lakeview avenue baseball grounds. As the different sections of the city are thus provided for all will be attended

Balkan Outbreaks Affected Market—

Copper Stocks Heavy—Market—

Maintained Firm Undertone

NEW YORK, July 3.—Initial prices of stocks were slightly lower today.

Apprehensions aroused abroad by the outbreak of serious hostilities among the Balkan nations were reflected in the depression of American stocks.

London, which influenced the opening here, the copper stocks as a group were the heaviest, but their losses were less than a point and movements in most cases were confined to small fractions.

The list stiffened until after the opening, recovering the losses but later sold off again. Later there were no signs of heavy pressure at any point, however, speculative interest apparently was dead and after the first few minutes of trading came almost to a standstill.

Operations during the morning were for the most part largely by the courts of affairs abroad. The effect of the Balkan difficulties as reflected in the depression of the European markets was highlighted by the bank of England's weekly statement showing a sharp falling off in its proposition of reserves.

While the drift in prices was downward selling was not large enough to affect values materially. After the first few minutes of trading the market remained on a dead level close to yesterday's close.

The market maintained a firm undertone during the afternoon trading session for the heaviest of Canadian Pacific.

The government cotton crop statistics showing a higher condition than had been looked for stimulated the demand for Southern stocks, but the movement all through the list was slight. Reinvestment of July interest and dividend money was shown in purchases for cash of some high grade securities. Further reductions were made in rates for the early maturities, 30 day loans ruling nearly one per cent below the opening of the week.

The market closed steady. Extreme losses prevailed all through the market of the early trading in copper, advancing 1 1/2 to 2% on the declaration of a fifty cent dividend, the second this year. The market generally was dull.

HEAD OF ANTI-TRUST LEAGUE

Henry B. Martin Testifies Before the Lobby Investigating Committee

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Edward Lauterbach, the New York lawyer who figured in David Lamar's impersonation of congressmen in telephone talks with New York financiers was not hand today as the senate lobby committee had expected when it resumed taking testimony. Henry B. Martin, head of a so-called anti-trust league, was called to be examined, however, on Lamar's statement that after he had drawn a resolution for a congressional investigation of the United States steel corporation he gave the resolution to Martin who in turn introduced it in the house.

Before Martin was called, however, Lewis Cass Lodge, attorney for J. P. Morgan & Co., who had testified yesterday as to Lamar drawing the steel trust resolution resumed the stand for a moment to testify that his information on that point came from Lamar and Lauterbach.

Senators gave Martin a lively examination in an effort to disclose what the "anti-trust league" was and who composed it.

Mr. Martin testified that M. L. Lockwood of Oklahoma was originally its president; he was secretary; Colter T. Brice of this city was treasurer and Herman Schulteis, also of Washington, was counsel. At one time the "league" depended on Attorney General Merritt of Ohio for legal advice, he said.

Martin declined to give names of the league's members, because they would suffer "the anger of the great trusts" who would ruin, blacklist them and secure their discharge from employment.

Martin also declined to disclose the expenditure of about $50,000 by the league on the same grounds.

Martin gave the executive committee of the league as consisting of himself, Lockwood, Schulteis, Merritt, Brice and W. H. Fleming of Kentucky; C. J. Van Vorhis of Indiana, William Trent of Illinois, W. G. Lafollette of Wisconsin, P. E. Dow of New York and W. H. Green of Nebraska. He said he proposed to the secretary of the navy evidences of fraud on plate contracts and that he gave information to other government officials regarding violations of law by the "railroad trust," coal trust, steel trust, harvester trust and elevator trust at a cost of more than $100,000. He maintained that he drew many bills for introduction into congress, helped to prepare an investigation of the Armour trust and was active in preparation of investigations of the steel trust. Further questions brought out that Lamar in 1907, when the Wickersham railroad law amendments were before congress, had supplied arguments and information that Martin presented to members. Martin thought such information had led to the striking out of the section on the railroads from prosecutions.

"Did Lamar prepare the draft of the resolutions for the investigation of the steel?" demanded Senator Cummins.

"It is my recollection that I asked him to prepare it," was the reply.

The committee wanted to know what Martin knew about lobbies in Washington.

He declared that when Chairman Lowery of the Union Pacific board with Paul D. Gray, counsel, appeared before the department of justice to discuss the Union Pacific disclosure with Attorney General Merritt, they had "lobbied" the department. A. U. Dinkley of the Carnegie Steel Co., Vice President Johnson of the Bethlehem Steel Co. and Vice President Pettis of the Midvale Steel Co. had been in Washington in March lobbying for armor plate contracts, Martin declared.

"An active part of that lobby is the navy league," he added.

J. P. Morgan and Herbert Satterlee of Morgan & Co., he named as interested in the navy league.

"The result of their continued lobbying has resulted in the United States paying hundreds of millions for obsolete ships and useless armor," said Mr. Martin.

Up to 11.30 o'clock this morning the jury in the case of Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, tried on a similar charge, had reported no agreement.

GOV. BLAMES TAMMANY MILLIONAIRE RETURNS

Sulzer Talks on Breach of Promise Suit John O'Brien Was Missing for 3 Years

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—Governor William Sulzer of New York, who came here yesterday to attend the semi-centennial celebration of the battle of Gettysburg, gave out a statement yesterday afternoon regarding the breach of promise suit begun against him yesterday in Philadelphia by Miss Mignon Hopkins, a cloak model. The governor declared he did not fear the outcome of the suit, which, he said, "looks like a poor conspiracy and seems to be snafu and fishy."

The governor characterized the suit as blackmail instigated by his political enemies, and added that it is "a part of the plot of Boss Murphy and his political conspirators to discredit me because they cannot use me for their nefarious schemes to loot the state of New York."

"Mr. Murphy and his henchmen," Governor Sulzer said, "have been threatening me ever since I became governor, because I would not be a tool and a prey governor."

"I defied them all to do their worst. Their efforts to injure me with honest people will be abortive. I shall go forward without fear, come what may. I never did a thing in my life of which I am ashamed."

"Suffice it to say," said the governor in conclusion, "that I know this Hopkins woman years ago. I was a friend of her family in their distress, but I deny emphatically that I ever agreed to marry her; that I ever lived with her, or that I ever held her out to be my wife."

TWO DROWNED TODAY

Continued

Exceptionally good swimmers spent the noon hour diving for the body, but with a cold, the undertaker Albert had some of his men grapple the bottom of the canal.

Deceased is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Honore Daigle; three sisters, Olivia Daigle of Lancaster, Lucie and Dolie, and a brother, Frank, the last three of Boston.

Boy Drowned in Beaver Brook

The second drowning accident today occurred this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock, when William Seward, aged 6 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Seward of 7 Exeter street, lost his life while bathing. At the time of going to press the body had not been recovered.

The little fellow in company with Wilfred Cheneille, 8 years of age, immediately after dinner went for a dip in the Merrimack river near the entrance to Beaver brook. At the last minute the Cheneille boy refused to go into the water, but Seward, despite the fact that he could not swim, could not resist the temptation and after divesting himself of his clothing jumped into the water. He ventured too far and soon disappeared, probably stepping into a large hole.

He came to the surface three times and was shouted for, but the little fellow on the shore was helpless and it was before his eyes that Seward was drowned. The latter's father was at once notified of the accident and Undertaker Joseph Albert was sent for. The latter soon had his men on the

Fight in Dining Room When Men Aroused Anger of Veteran by Abusing Lincoln

GETTYSBURG, Penn., July 3.—Seven men were stabbed last night in a fight in the dining-room of the Gettysburg hotel, as a result of a fight which started when several men aroused the anger of an old veteran in blue by abusing Lincoln.

Several of the wounded men are in a serious condition at the Pennsylvania State hospital.

The state constabulary are making desperate efforts to find the men who did the stabbing.

Farber, Mauglin and Griffin are in the most serious condition. Their wounds were in the left breast and the surgeons at the Pennsylvania State hospital would not venture predictions as to their chance of recovery.

According to all the information the authorities could gather, the fight started suddenly and was over in a few minutes. It began shortly before 10 o'clock when the dining-room was full of people and caused a panic among the scores of guests.

The old veteran who was unhurt and disappeared in the melee, was sitting near Farber and Carroll when he heard the slighting remarks about Lincoln.

He jumped to his feet and began to defend the martyred president and berated his detractors. The men who were stabbed, according to the information the surgeons gathered, jumped to the defense of the veteran when the others closed in.

Knives were out in a second and the room was in an uproar. Women fled for the doors and crowded to the windows ready to jump to the street below. It was all over before the rest of the men in the room could get their breath, and the men responsible for it all had got out and away.

CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN RABBIS

Rabbi Schulman Says Sectional Conferences Are Detrimental to Interests of National Body

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 3.—Rabbi Samuel Schulman, New York, President of the Central Conference of American rabbis in session here, declared, in his annual address today, against the organization of sectional conferences as detrimental to the interests of the national body, called for a stricter observance of the Jewish Sabbath, recommended the election of rabbis by their congregations for a life term and urged that the constitution of the conference be amended so as not to prohibit the re-election of a president after two terms of service.

Dr. Schulman also discussed the "tendency to identify progressive Judaism with Liberal Christianity" and said that it could be carried too far in the wrong direction. As an example he referred to the Jewish religious school union in New York city which, he said, had selected a professor in a Christian theological seminary as its theologian.

"We are told," said the speaker, "that this professor interpreted the whole of Jewish biblical history as a struggle between the letter and the spirit, between priest and prophet, and between legalism and something else, and that finally he held that the spirit triumphed completely in Jesus. It goes without saying that such an interpretation was resented. The religion of Israel has today interests of its own which are profoundly differentiated from the religion of Christendom, even in its most liberal form and no Christian scholar, no matter how liberal he may be, can really take the place of a Jew in telling Jews how they should organize their religious educational systems. There is enough in the common teachings of Judaism and Christianity to make possible a real and hearty cooperation between Jew and Christian on behalf of civic and social progress, moral education and humanitarianism without indulging in such theological 'shameless' mixtures, which can produce no good."

Rabbi Schulman denounced the late-formed rabbis as a sectional organization which could only "ineptly duplicate the work of the national body or strive to overshadow and discredit it."

The conference, he said, should "in no uncertain terms make it clear that sectional conferences are detrimental to the Central conference of American rabbis, should not be encouraged and as soon as possible their members should be earnestly requested to disband and reorganize, if a new organization is at all necessary, along purely local lines."

On the subject of life tenure of office for rabbis, the speaker said that such a provision was "in accord with the best traditions of Israel and can only make for the increased stability and independence and service of a ministry, free from care and worry for the day after tomorrow."

"Encouraging this procedure," he added, "congregations will do very much to lift the status of the minister in small places and in not a few large congregations, and will immeasurably increase the moral authority of the rabbi and will render a solid service to Judaism."

In his plea for stricter observance of the Jewish Sabbath, Rabbi Schulman recommended the appointment of a "Sabbath Observance committee" in America.

MAIL WAGON INJURED

Collision With Auto on Mammoth Road

The mail delivery wagon driven by Carrier Edward Lynch, who is acting as substitute carrier on the Collinsville route during the absence of Mr. Narcisse Gadhais, was struck by an automobile this morning about 9 o'clock while traveling along Riverside street near Mammoth road. The auto, it is said, is owned by Mr. Horace Bacon of Boston.

Mr. Lynch was driving along Riverside street and not knowing that an auto was approaching, he turned to avoid a mail box just as Mr. Bacon started to pass. The rear wheel of the wagon was struck by the front part of the machine, breaking it in several places and also destroying the head light on the automobile. Mr. Bacon immediately stopped his machine and after assisting in every way possible he journeyed along. A wheel was secured in a nearby blacksmith shop and the letter carrier continued to deliver his mail.

Passersby stated that the accident was unavoidable and praised Mr. Bacon for bringing his machine to a stop so quickly.

WILLIAM DOUST OF THE OLD MONITOR SPEAKER'S STAND IN REUNION TENT AT GETTYSBURG

Thousands of veterans attending the great reunion at Gettysburg heard many notables speak from the platform in the big assembly tent, just as shown in the picture. President Wilson is scheduled to speak from this stage on the Fourth of July. Governor Mann of Virginia and Governor Sulzer of New York were among others who addressed the old soldiers. The tent seated 5,000, and there was room for thousands of others to stand. Among the old characters who congregated under this reunion tent was

MARBLEHEAD, July 3.—A fleet of 21 yachts left Marblehead at colors today of the Eastern Yacht club's annual cruise to the Maine coast. The wind during the early forenoon was up and down the coast but when the tugs, launches and yachts having auxiliary motor power had taken the sailing craft outside a cool zephyr from the southeast greeted them. The fleet included eleven schooners, four steamers, five sloops and a yawl but a third of this number started off immediately for Portland and did not stop for the racing.

The regatta committee waited until nine thirty for the breeze to strike them before sending the small sloops away. Interest in this class centered in the Scholana and Dorado II, which were expected to have some lively contests during the cruise.

"DICK" HEARD IT IN TIME

Automobile Whistle Shrieked and Mr. Griffith Jumped Out of the Way. He Escaped Without Injury.

"Dick" Griffith did not wear his habitual smile this forenoon when he came very near being run over by an automobile at the junction of Central and Merrimack streets. "Dick" jumped out of the automobile's path to that of a wagon. Fortunately he managed to stand between the two vehicles and thus avoid probably serious injury.

Mr. Griffith was crossing Merrimack street at the junction of Central. He was going on slowly, when suddenly he heard the sharp shriek of a motor car.

KILLS SNAKE WITH HATPIN

Woman Thrown From Horse While Riding

LENOX, July 3.—While enjoying a horseback ride yesterday, Mrs. Howard Roraback of South Egremont met with an exciting experience with a six-foot rattlesnake, which after a unique battle she succeeded in despatching.

While proceeding along a mountain trail the girth of her saddle slipped and she was thrown from the saddle, striking on her side in the underbrush at the side of the trail.

She was considerably startled as she fell to hear the warning rattle of the snake and see its hideous form coiled ready to strike only about three feet distant. She had nothing with which to protect herself except a long hatpin in her hat.

While in college, however, she had been prominent in an amateur way in using the foils and with the pin began to parry the reptile's attacks upon her until finally with a well-directed thrust she pierced its head with the pin and it was soon writhing in its death agony.

When life had become extinct she cut off its rattles, which numbered 13, and now has them as a trophy of her prowess.

LAWRENCE MILL TO CLOSE

American Woolen Co. Plans Shutdown

BOSTON, July 3.—The mills of the American Woolen company will be closed for two weeks, according to the Boston News Bureau, while 15,000 operatives are already permanently idle. Instead of closing around Labor day, the plants of the company will be closed in July for two weeks, some from July 1 to 21, and others from July 14 to July 28.

It is stated by Lawrence that the company, as a result of the present disheartening depression in the worsted trade, is operating its plants at only about 25 per cent capacity, and that toward the end of the week, when it is customary to employ fewer operatives, the operating capacity has of late dipped down to under 20 per cent. It is further stated on authority that at least 15,000 operatives are idle in Lawrence.

GENERAL SICKLES FORGETS HIS TROUBLES WHILE A HERO AMONG GETTYSBURG HOSTS

General SICKLES AT GETTYSBURG

General Daniel E. Sickles, the only surviving corps commander at the Gettysburg celebration, was the center of much interest, not only because of the part he played in the Civil war's great three day struggle, but because of his recent troubles with his wife and with the state of New York over money matters. The aged general, who left a leg at Gettysburg fifty years ago, was photographed in his roller chair in front of the Rogers house with some of his former staff by his side. He said: "The country has changed little. Right out in front of the Rogers house here my boys did some of the sharpest fighting before the final great battle of the third day, and from where I sit on the porch I can look out on the spot, off here near Brost's barn, where I was hit. I thought that was the end of me, but, thank God, I lived. Thank God, as one of the boys in gray said to me today, that a sufficient number of us have lived to come together here on this anniversary and clasp hands as brothers."

THE FIGHT FOR SCOTT'S MILLIONS

Lady Sackville Swore That She Never Saw the Will of Sir John Murray Scott

LONDON, July 3.—The fight for the legacy of $750,000. He was going to millions," the suit in which the relatives of Sir John Murray Scott are endeavoring to have pronounced invalid on account of alleged undue influence the will by which he left the bulk of his fortune of $1,000,000 to Lady Sackville, was resumed today before an audience composed largely of women, including several wives of British cabinet ministers and judges as well as other notable persons and which filled every seat in the probate, divorce and admiralty court.

As soon as the presiding judge, Sir Samuel Thomas Evans, had taken his seat on the bench, Lady Sackville returned to the witness stand and under direct examination by Sir Edward Carson, her counsel, took up the thread of the story of her friendship with the baronet. It was, she said, in the spring of 1900 while she and the baronet were driving together that Sir John told her of his intention to leave a large part of his fortune to her. He said to her that now his mother was dead Lady Sackville had taken a great place in his life and that he was going to leave to her the $1,000,000, his furniture, his houses at Bagatelle near Paris and at Lisbon and in fact all except the houses in London which he had left to his sisters and brothers.

Later on, according to Lady Sackville, he said he intended to reduce her

POLICEMAN MILLER HELD GREEKS ATTACK BULGARS

Judge Cannot Understand Fighting Resumed—Many Killed at Guevgheli

BOSTON, July 3.—Patrolman Charles W. Miller, the station 4 policeman charged with shooting and killing Ralph P. Shea of 75 Carver street on the morning of June 17, was held yesterday for the grand jury after a dozen witnesses had testified at the preliminary hearing before Judge Wentworth that he was the man who shot and killed the defendant.

In this case," said the court at the close of the hearing, "I am more inclined to believe the version of the defendant, Miller, than to place my full credence in the case as presented by the prosecution. There is no doubt in my mind but that Miller is telling the truth when he says that young Shea stole his billiard and that it was twisted in Shea's hand when the latter was found lying on the stairs at 195 Warren street."

"But I cannot just understand why Patrolman Miller should have fired a second shot from his revolver into the dark entry way of the house into which Shea, whom he was pursuing, darted. I shall therefore hold the defendant for the grand jury. The bonds may stand."

Miller, who has been enjoying his liberty for $1000 bail since his arrest, two days after the shooting, seemed crushed by the decision of the court and left the room in company with brother police officers, in a very dejected mood.

OVER 3000 MEN WOUNDED

Greeks, Servians and Bulgarians Suffer

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 3.—The casualties during the fighting in Macedonia between the Servians and Bulgarians have been much heavier than the published figures would indicate, according to the Servian Red Cross society which telegraphed today to the Swiss Red Cross society, asking it to dispatch doctors and nurses to the scene of hostilities. The telegram stated that three thousand wounded had been already brought from the front and that fighting continued.

Saturday, July 5th, is "Quarter Day" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings bank.

ACCUSE DEAD TREASURER

Company Sues Woman for Alleged Shortage

BOSTON, July 3.—What may prove to be a family skeleton was bared in the Suffolk court yesterday when the American Fidelity company filed a suit against Margaret Snell of Brookline to recover $500.21 which the company alleges was embezzled by the late William Snell while he was treasurer of the William F. Mosser company.

Upon Snell's death Margaret Snell was appointed administratrix of his estate. The American Fidelity company claims it paid the Mosser company $311.65 as insurance against loss through the dishonest acts by any of its employes.

The Fidelity company further alleges that it has been informed that Margaret Snell came into possession of certain real and personal property which Snell owned when he died, Nov. 23, 1912. This property is located, the company asserts, in Brookline, and it is further alleged that its present holders are planning to dispose of it.

An injunction to prevent a sale is sought. The Fidelity company declares it holds by assignment all rights which the Mosser company had to it and it further seeks a conveyance to it of the property in question.

Snell was for a long time a trusted employee of the Mosser company, and during his life there was no inkling that his affairs, while its treasurer, were questionable.

The suit, following his death, has created much interest.
